“Create the world a better place by bringing out the best in everyone and help to reveal their uniqueness and brilliance that makes people feel their value, inevitably they will start adding value to others, to the business they work for, and to the product that they create”

I help people to find their path by being guided by a need for their self-expression.

The more I know about human infinite potential, the more ways I see for the business to grow organically by creating a brand essence that incorporates a soulful culture, an environment where people thrive and their engagement and performance create a ripple effect leading to the success of an organization.

Through my 20-year journey of business-leading experience in multicultural environments I noticed that as much as people matter to the success of a business, the business and job make a significant difference in their lives too.

I discovered that self-expression lies in the secret of success of the people who take a path to transform their passion and inner resources into a source of sustainable income and fulfillment. Some people take it further and become entrepreneurs to create on their terms.

I am a mom of two young adults who came into my life simultaneously with my career. Having the well-being of my family as one of my core values, I learned how to find my balance and use my values as a cornerstone for setting things around. I made a home for my family in 5 countries

I love my space and trust my intuition.

I am good at finding creative solutions as a gifted problem solver. I am an expert in building trustworthy long-term relationships with my clients and providing unique customer service.

I created 4 soulful brands in the luxury market in operations and hospitality.

As I embrace my gifts, I feel called to apply holistic self-knowledge systems in my life and through my work like Human Design, the Essential Laws of the Universe, Energy Mastery, and Light Touch therapy that organically help to be in alignment with desires and bring to a surface the natural gifts that will become the stepping stones in one's journey.
