

Cross-Cultural Management

Identity Leader Development

1 Day Workshop Details

- Defining Culture
What do we mean by “culture”?
- Culture Dimensions
What are the measures of culture that can be assessed to see differences between groups of people.
- Cultural Influences at Work.
How culture influences behaviour of employees at work at the individual level and from a group level. How these factors impact on leadership of people and teams.
- Management Best Practices
Armed with cross-cultural knowledge what should leaders make allowance for and how to mitigate any negative cultural factors that may arise. Preventing Stereo Typing and Sub-Groups

The workplace is increasingly multi-cultural. This workshop increases management knowledge on cultural influences in the work place.

Culture is “the collective programming of the mind that distinguishes one group of people from another”. Geert Hofstede.

This training workshop provides key information on managing cross-cultural teams effectively, at both on-site and virtual levels. Diversity brings many advantages in organisational performance provided it is harnessed in the right way. Understanding what culture is and how it is observed in the workplace, provides managers with additional insight on their teams. Insight on communication norms, knowledge sharing, historical influences, empowerment and engagement. Knowledge that can be implemented practically to increase equity and inclusion for members of your team.
