SUMMER STORM

July at Wexford brought us a big storm, and a possible "Micro-burst". High winds and six inches of rain in a short time brought a lot of runoff and some downed trees. Fortunately, there were no structures damaged.

A NOTE FROM THE IMPROVEMENTS COMMITTEE:

Safe operations at our residential airpark are fundamental to enjoying our treasure. We are limited in our ability to control the wildlife interface around the airstrip except to not provide habitat that attracts deer, geese, fox, and such to the area. All it takes is one armadillo burrow on the runway or one deer streaking from an overgrown lot to create an unsafe piloting experience. We want to thank the Melendez's and the Kozuras for under-mulching the brush on their lots. Every little bit helps.

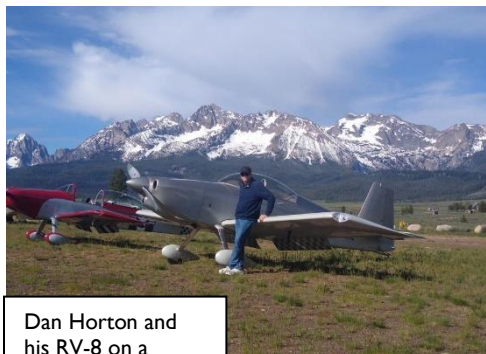

Thanks to Leonard Self for the drone pictures!

WEXFORD LANDINGS

Dan Horton took a few weeks touring the West with the RV-8...mostly Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Oregon. Ever landed on a dry lake two miles wide and five miles long?
