Re: Demand of Security Deposit
Greetings:
As you know, I gave you a security deposit when I entered the lease agreement with you. Either you have not returned the deposit at all or you have improperly made deductions from the deposit. I request an explanation at your earliest convenience. If you fail to offer a reasonable explanation I will consider filing suit in court.
Please note that if you retain a security deposit in bad faith you are liable for an amount equal to $100, three times the portion of the deposit wrongfully withheld, attorney fees and court costs. See Texas Property Code Section 92.109. (This is not intended to be legal advice to you; consult your own attorney.)
Thanks for your prompt attention.

Dear _____

According to Ohio Revised Code (ORC) section 5321.18 (B), any deduction from the security deposit shall be limited and identified by the landlord in a written notice delivered to the tenant together with the amount due, within thirty days after termination of the overall agreement and delivery of possession.

I moved out and returned the keys to the premises located at _____ and also provided you with a written transmission address _____.

It has been more than 30 days since moving and I have not yet received my security deposit or any statement concerning the deduction.

I received a notice of my security deposit that you made an incorrect statement explaining the deduction from my security deposit. I believe that _____ was unjustly withheld from my security deposit.

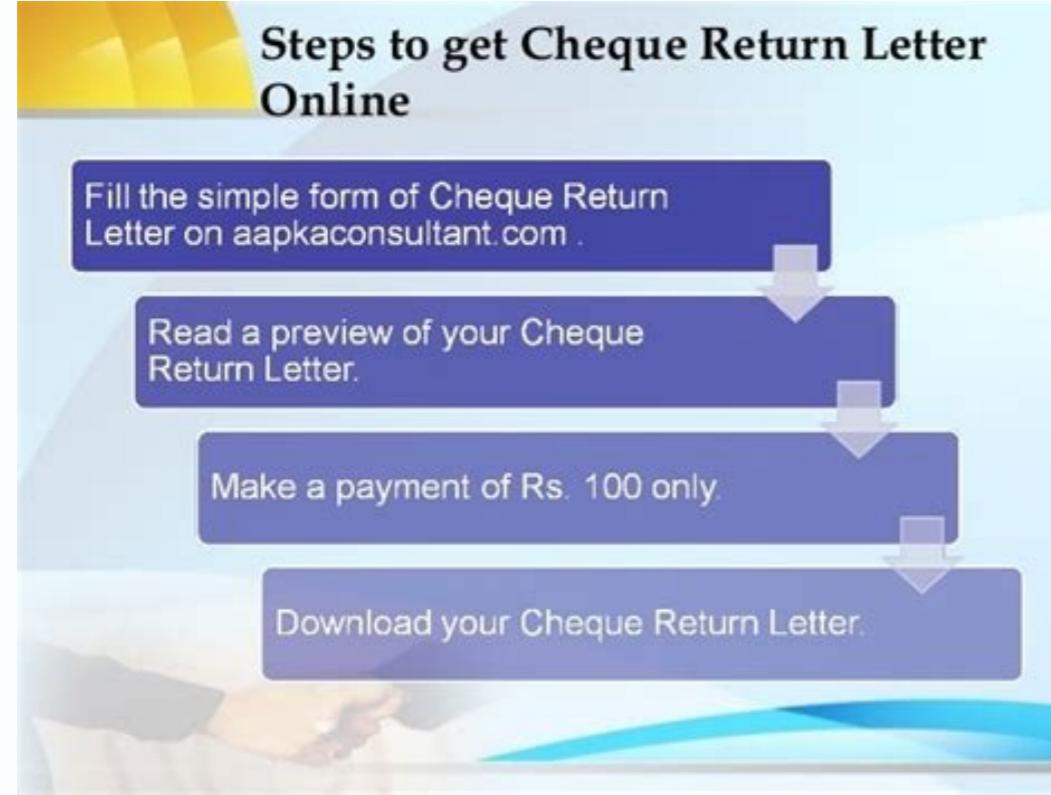

Please return my security deposit in the amount of _____ in monetary. Under ORC 5321.18 (C), if I do not receive the return of the security deposit or my security deposit, I will pursue my legal rights to sue for the amount of my security deposit and any attorney's fees, court costs, and reasonable legal expenses. I thank you in advance for your prompt attention to this matter.

Very truly yours,
