

Dear Friends and Family of Trinity Church,

Again, I sit in front of a blank computer screen, contemplating how my words of wisdom will fall this time around. First on my mind, this will be the first letter in the modern technology age for Trinity. We are no longer mailing the newsletter, so hopefully, if you are reading this you have found your way to our website.

We are continuing to reach out to all. Check out our Facebook page if you have not as of yet, it can be pretty entertaining. Thank you to our contributors for their wit and creativity. It was reported we have had hundreds of views, so we are plowing our way through social media. We will reach out to all in any way we can.

Ministry is still going strong at Trinity. Scott Smith began his bible study group and had eight attending his early Sunday morning gathering of the faithful. Roberta Schlinglof and her mighty band of volunteers continue Loaves & Fishes on the fourth Saturday of every month. For the past gazillion months, she has organized, shopped, and prepared a marvelous, delicious, and fulfilling meal for everyone who passes through our doors. And Logansport Street Outreach is still supporting the unhoused of the community and we are organizing for the coming need of a warming center. The weather is changing and cold and snow will be on us before we know it.

We were able squeeze in a “Grill and Chill” gathering complete with fun, food, and fellowship, before the weather changes, and we have one more outdoor worship opportunity this Sunday, October 4th, honoring St. Francis of Assisi. And guess what, we are having a pet blessing. Many of our pet owners felt it would be better outside, given the disposition of many of our guests. I just hope I don’t get bit!

So, the fun continues at Trinity, many new faces have joined us, and it is a joy to look out over the congregation and see so many standing, kneeling, singing, and praying. I have the best seat in the house, and the kindest, most loving congregation. Love abounds not only within our four walls, but it spills out into the surrounding community as we continue to answer the call of Jesus, loving God with all our heart, soul, mind and strength, and loving our neighbor as ourselves.

Blessings and Peace to you and yours...Fr. Clark
