About the EQUUS Film & Arts Fest | The Mustang Summit

The EQUUS Film & Arts Fest takes place as both a Virtual and In-Person Event! It is the first event of its kind to offer a home to the storytellers of the horse world, with films, documentaries, videos, commercials, and shorts from around the world and cultural elements of fine equestrian art and literature.

The Mustang Summit has been added to the program as an educational platform to raise awareness and understanding about the American Mustangs in holding pens and available for adoption. A horse who has a safe and quiet start can be trainable and become a good partner. It is our mission to bring awareness to American Mustangs who need homes. Focusing on and highlighting the work taking place in the healing and equine assisted learning fields with Mustangs. Providing resources for all who want to learn about the Off-Range Mustang horse.

Founded in 2013 by Lisa Diersen, Director/Organizer, an equestrian, who has spent her life in the company of horses. Lisa's mission is to show the world how horses can bring everyone together regardless of race, age, gender, abilities or disabilities. She presently raises, trains and loves Lusitano horses in Saint Charles, Illinois with her Jack Russell, Amore.

Julianne Neal, Storyteller, Filmmaker, Author, Founder of JA Media Productions joined the team in 2016.

Every horse has a story, it's our mission at the EQUUS Film & Arts Fest to share those stories, through film, art and literature.

Kami Sue Taylor Utah

MEET THE WOMAN BEHIND THE DRUM

Kami Sue Taylor is a visionary artist, art and sound healer, and conflict relations mentor who weaves ancient wisdom into modern-day healing. She teaches the sacred craft of drum and rattles making—offering powerful, hands-on experiences that awaken creativity, connection, and spirit.

Kami lives on a wild-mustang ranch in the heart of southeastern Utah with her beloved husband, West Taylor. Together, they are passionate advocates for America's wild horses and share their unique, science-based horsemanship at live events and through immersive online courses—often taught in partnership with the horses themselves.

At their sacred sanctuary in Fremont, Utah, Kami and West host transformational mountain retreats and facilitate drum circles, guided labyrinth walks, breathwork ceremonies, and experiential workshops for couples, individuals, and corporations seeking deeper alignment and renewal.

Kami's handcrafted hoop drums are more than instruments—they are ceremonial tools infused with intention and custom-painted artwork. Shipped to souls across the globe, each drum is a vibrant embodiment of her passion, purpose, and deep, rooted soul work.

I make portable drum circles mounted sizes from 9" to 18" and use an assortment of beaks, depending on what you desire. Buffalo, Elk, Moose, Deer, Badger, Swan.

So when making your very own authentic native style hand drum and drum stick out of the blueprints, you'll be able to make your own with love and draw inside Kami Taylor. This is an amazing spiritual experience for anyone who wants to learn this tradition.

Jake Harvath Utah Year of the Mustang

Jake Harvath is a long-distance rider from Heber City, Utah. He is the founder of the Year of the Mustang project. A six-thousand-mile horseback journey that has taken Harvath and his mustangs from Utah to the Atlantic coast. Now they are headed west, with plans to pass through twenty-five states in total. Jake's mission is to share the wonder and versatility of mustangs as working horses and to educate the public about the need for adoption. A winner and fan favorite by trade, Jake is applying the skills he's obtained in life to the challenging journey.

While his horses, Denver, Bella, and Eddy are showing the world the qualities that mustangs possess, Jake found a voice by documenting his journey on YouTube and social media. Giving the world a unique look at what it's like to cross America on the backs of wild horses.

Eric Pflueger Colorado

Since I was a young boy I was fascinated by wild horses. I adopted my first Mustang at the age of 23. Since then I have spent a lot of time refining my craft in order to help my horses. At the age of 48 I'm still learning so much. My focus is turning these amazing horses into working ranch horses. I have been fortunate to have found a lot of success competing in the Meeker Mustang Makeover.

West Taylor Utah

Connecting humans and HORSES
Through Science-Based Horsemanship

West Taylor spent the first 25 years of his adult life pursuing the success in life he believed only existed by getting things done, by building a business, by living within an image and structure that society told him to be. Have the right job, live in the right neighborhood, drive the right vehicle, do all the things to meet society's definition of happiness. After 25 years of trying to meet that outside world's perceived expectations of himself West finally crashed his life, lost his business, all of his money, and the lifestyle that came along with "keeping up with the Joneses."

He found himself starting life over again at the age of 40, he moved his family back home to his grandfather's ranch to regroup and begin his new life.

"I don't know what I want to do, I just know it has something to do with horses." West told his wife Kami. This is the last of the next 15 years of his life. Learning and understanding how to train and work with Wild Horses. During this newly created version of himself West began to find the elusive happiness in life he was searching for, he found it in the wild horses. He found the value of patience, taking life at a much slower pace, he learned about himself and how to create an internal sense of safety in his life. West and his wife Kami of 25 years now have created the horse centers and individuals to experience his science-based Transformation Method at their ranch property in Southern Utah.

West is now known as an expert in his industry in proper training and handling of all breeds of horses. His scientific research has led him to developing his own training method known as West Taylor's Science Based Horsemanship and life lessons learned from horses.

My name is Sloane Milstein, and my journey as a photographer began with a family member, a manual camera, and a class. What started as a creative outlet has evolved into a unique path blending my love for photography, woodworking, and the Western lifestyle. As the founder of Mustang West Artists, I create work that highlights the beauty of mustangs, burros, and the rugged grace of the Western landscape.

Before turning to photography full-time, I had a long career as an equestrian professional. I was an elite competitor, NCAA coach, and United States Equestrian Federation (USEF) Steward. My expertise spans hunter jumpers, three-day eventing, side saddle, modern pentathlon, dressage, with additional experience in western reining and polo. This foundation informs my ability to capture the unique bond between horses and humans, emphasizing themes of freedom, strength, and connection. My creative journey began on Colorado's Western Slope, where I documented mustangs, rodeos, and landscapes. Through this work, I advocate for equine preservation and collaborate with local artisans, nonprofits, and galleries to make a positive impact in my community. I am also passionate about mentoring others, whether it's through photography lessons or hosting workshops to inspire creativity. When I'm not working, I love spending time outdoors—hiking, rock climbing, and paddling—with my dog, Slick, by my side.

I hope you enjoy my art as much as I have enjoyed creating it!

2024 Little Book Cliffs Area Wild Horse Gather

The BLM Grand Junction Field Office concluded wild horse gather operations on the Little Book Cliffs Wild Horse Range Sept. 18, 2024. Approximately 140 horses from four areas of the horse range were gathered Sept. 11-18, 2024.

Purpose of Gather:

BLM Colorado is committed to managing for healthy horses on healthy lands through appropriate management levels of the population. The removal of excess wild horses is necessary to achieve the AML of 90-150 horses on the range. It is important to find a balance that will preserve wild horses and their habitat, other wildlife like elk and deer, and natural resources.

BLM Colorado is committed to reducing the frequency of helicopter gathers. This outcome is dependent on having an effective fertility control program to reduce the rate of herd growth (15-20% annually if not managed), which is most successful when used to maintain a population that is within appropriate management levels.

Details of Gather:

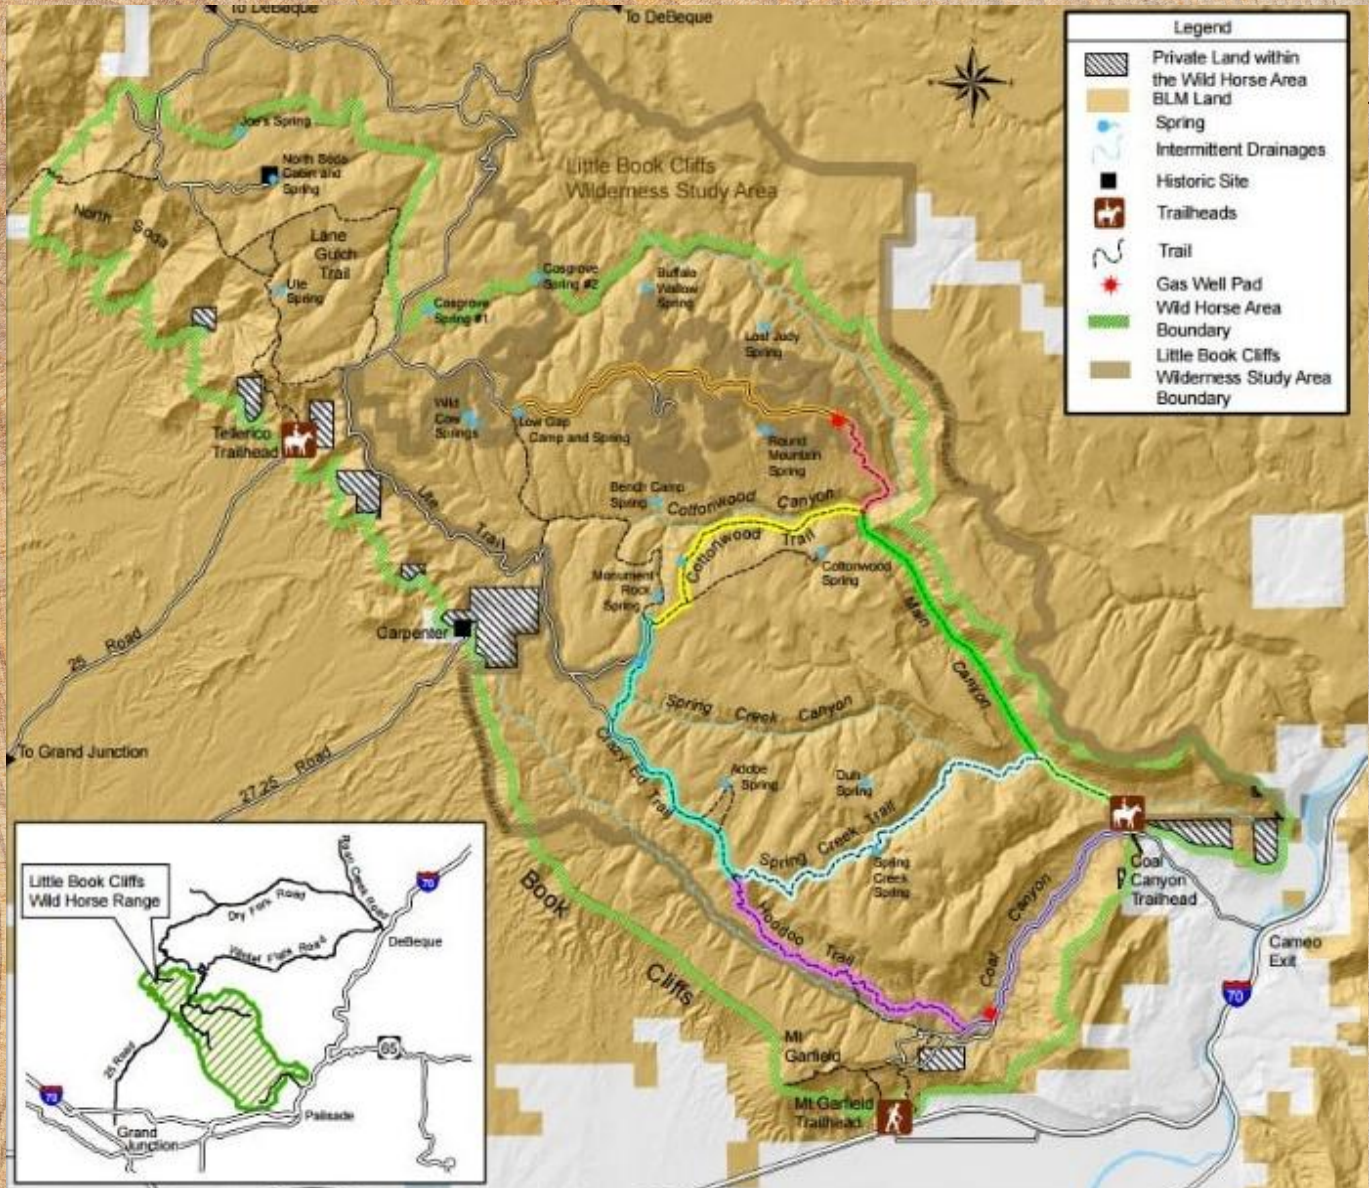

During a horse gather, safety is our priority – that of the animals, our employees, and members of the public. BLM is committed to the humane and ethical treatment of wild horses and ensures BLM and contractor staff adhere to guidelines set forth by the Comprehensive Animal Welfare Program in all gathers.

The Comprehensive Animal Welfare Program outlines required best practices and humane handling standards that prioritize the health and well-being of wild horses and minimize potential stress and injury.

2023 Bordo Atravesado HMA Wild Horse Gather

The Bordo Atravesado Herd Management Area wild horse gather concluded on June 24, 2024.

Purpose of Gather:

As of March 2023, the BLM estimated there were approximately 230 wild horses within and outside the herd management area, which is almost four times the number that is healthy for the land and the herd.

The purpose of the gather is to reduce wild horse overpopulation by removing excess wild horses from within and outside the Bordo Atravesado, and to reduce the wild horse population growth rates using a temporary fertility control vaccine.

Details of Gather:

The BLM will conduct gather operations using water to attract animals into existing corrals in the area.

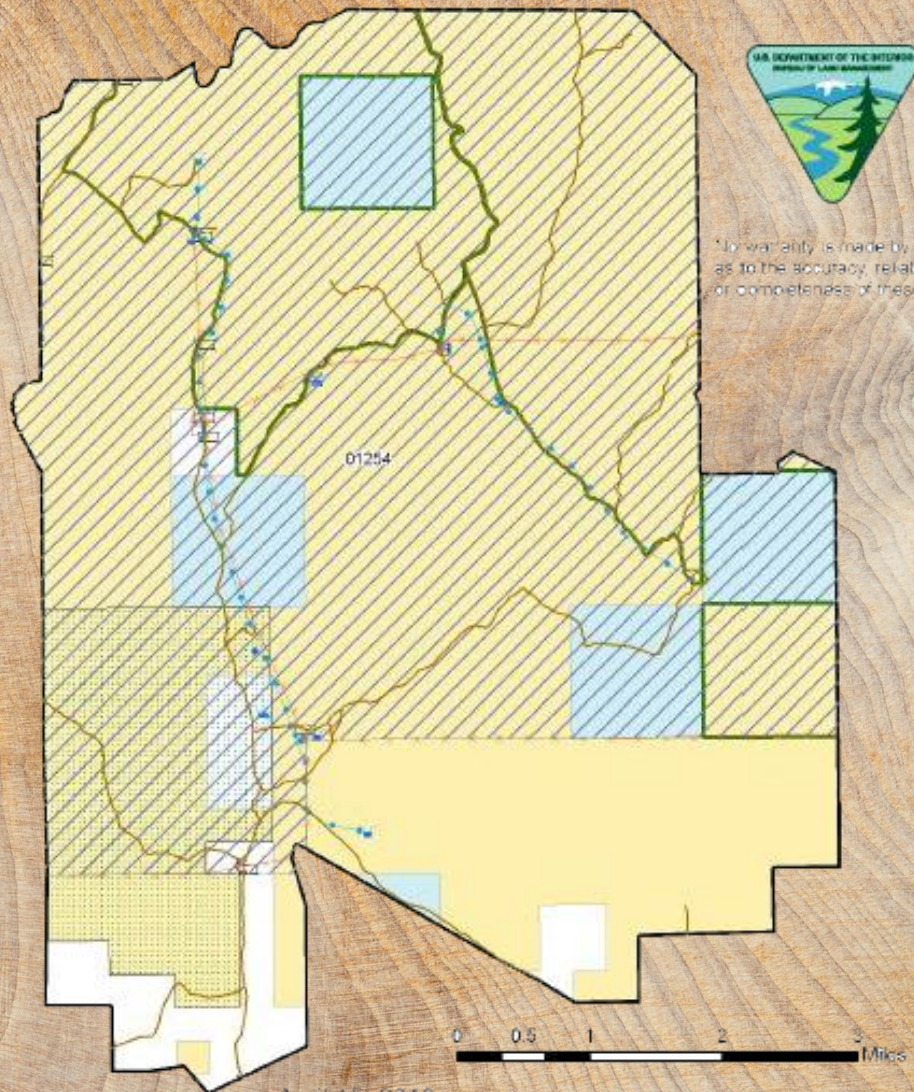

Background:

The Bordo Atravesado Horse Management Area is approximately 15 miles northeast of Socorro, New Mexico. A wild horse herd has been present in the area since at least the early 1950s. Bordo Atravesado horses come in an array of colors, which include buckskins, roans, grays, palominos, bays, sorrels, and a few black horses.

George Brauneis

Grand Valley Horse Rescue

Colorado

Back in 1971, George Brauneis was one of tens of thousands of children that wrote letters to Congress and our President in support of Wild Horse Annie's efforts to better protect our Wild Horses and Burros. He was in the saddle before he could even walk. He grew up with Taffy a beautiful Palomino mare and Old Ed, a scruffy and loveable Mammoth donkey. The love of horses and donkeys, Mustangs and burros runs deep.

After graduating college, he found his way to Long Beach, California where he worked in aerospace engineering. His fingerprints can be found on the International Space Station, the B2 Bomber, the Global Hawk drone, and the C17 to name a few. But, after September 11th, 2001, he had a change of heart and returned to rural Colorado. He came back full circle to his roots of his youth with horses.

George is a master at working with QiGong energy with horses. He has a way of being that mirrors a still lake in his Qi (energy) that helps the horses feel safe and cared for and seen without stressing them out or chasing them around to get them to connect. He calls this "Becoming Catchable To Your Horse."

George is a purely positive trainer who understands the deep energy flow of Qi running through him, the horses and burros and all of the animals at the Eagles and Wild Horses Ranch. His practice of QiGong led him to discover that Qi is a horse's natural language and by matching his Qi state with the horses amazing results were possible that allow the horse to shift their behaviors naturally and with very low stress.

George has come to develop his own unique style of "Slow Dancing" with the Mustangs which allows them to trust him based on their choice of being able to connect with him when they are ready. George's primary concern is the restoration of each horse's essence which so often becomes shut down at the hands of humans. Even though they may have experienced great trauma they can once again learn to feel safe in their own bodies and trust humans again.

Since adopting Zyana, Paige has worked with mustangs from all walks in life, including spending 3 years as a MHF TIP trainer before the program closed, training for various mustang makeovers, and recently competing in the inaugural Mustang Classic, an English discipline makeover in the Rolex arena at the Kentucky Horse Park.

Paige has recently started her training program, Fantasia Horsemanship, and enjoys sharing her passion for these incredible horses with others. Tim McGaffic has studied with many of the great legends and to this day remains a student looking for greater knowledge and deeper understanding of stock dogs, horses and stockmanship. Tim was introduced to Ray Hunt during the 1980s while working with difficult horses on a Colorado Ranch. He is well known for low stress stockmanship, his innovative work with wild mustangs most notably the Mesa Verde gather and horsemanship clinics. Tim has conducted horse clinics and taught low stress stockmanship around the country, predominantly in California, Colorado, New Mexico, Hawaii, North and South Carolina, Florida and Virginia. Tim became the ranch manager of two large ranches in Hawaii that had been abandoned for years. Tim's experience as a Holistic manager, ranch manager, horse and cow guy, made him an ideal candidate for the job getting the ranches under control.

Tim developed "The Nature of Natural", a philosophy based essentially on the principles of behavioral science.

Colorado's Herd Management Areas

HMA's are public lands where wild horses and burros are protected and managed by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). Each HMA represents a unique landscape, history, and community working to maintain healthy wild herds and habitat balance. Colorado is home to four distinct HMAs, each supported by passionate volunteer groups. These groups play a vital role in monitoring herd health, documenting lineage, supporting adoptions, and working collaboratively with the BLM to maintain sustainable populations and preserve the wild spirit of the West.

Takhin Equine Integration

The training of the horse as it's own human therapeutic intervention.

If a horse is going to transmit well-being to a human, it must have well-being to give. This applies to both horses in therapy settings as well as horses in riding schools, and sport.

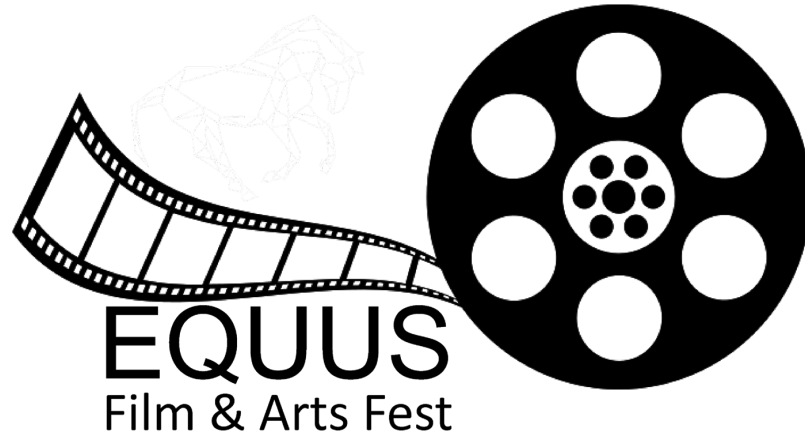

Takhin is the Mongolian word for the wild horse – it means “honored one” or “revered one”. The Takhin program honors the horse’s need for play, herd socialization, purpose, and bodily and mental development.

It also honors the equine professional who is trying to do their best for their horse and clients, but often lack the time to address both.

Takhin is a program that will enable you to teach your clients with trauma, depression and related conditions to work with equine play, lunging, in hand work and long reins, to not only ensure the horses’s well-being but to also empower themselves.

Patrick Craig

Wild Horse Refuge

Colorado

Founder and Executive Director – Pat Craig – Pat began saving captive wildlife after learning that thousands of “surplus” animals were being kept in tiny cages in the back of zoos all across the country – with many being euthanized on a daily basis. Pat set out on a mission to help save these animals by building a small rescue facility on his family farm outside Boulder, CO. At age 19, Pat became the youngest state and federally licensed person in the country, as well as the first person to build a sanctuary dedicated to saving large carnivores and other animals.

Pat’s vision has led 44 years later to the oldest and largest nonprofit sanctuary in the world dedicated to rescuing captive exotic and endangered large carnivores that have been abused, abandoned, exploited or illegally kept. Beginning in 2022, Pat saw the need for a wild horse refuge to be created in order to help wild Mustangs in Colorado. He subsequently created the largest wild horse sanctuary in the United States by opening a 22,500-acre facility in northwest Colorado for Mustangs that were being removed from their native ranges by the BLM.

Pat’s 44 years of experience in captive large carnivore rescue, transportation, animal behavior and sanctuary development have led to his becoming a leading expert in the field. He spent more than a decade rescuing PMU horses back in the late 80's and early 90's and has rescued hundreds of horses in need while also operating three separate large carnivore sanctuaries.

Pat lectures regionally and nationally on captive wildlife rescue and transportation, great cat behaviors and diets, and has worked tirelessly toward better protection for these animals. He works hand-in-hand with the USDA, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Colorado Division of Wildlife, and many other state and national organizations in the never-ending fight to rescue animals in need. Pat has also worked with Canadian, Mexican, Spanish, Bolivian, Uruguayan, Panamanian and Peruvian, Lebanese and Korean government agencies on large and extremely complicated rescues from within their countries.

Pat oversees and participates in all TWAS’ operations, including rescues, both within the United States and abroad. Pat has over 44 years of experience in designing, building and operating specialized rescue equipment for use in transporting large carnivores and wild horses and manages the largest fleet of rescue equipment in the country. His expertise in handling large rescues in demanding situations, as well as successfully covering great distances is well known among law enforcement agencies across the U.S.

Pat has a BS in Education from the University of Northern Colorado and has received recognition and awards from many sources including the United States Secretary of Agriculture Honor Award for service above and beyond to the USDA, the American Veterinary Medical Association, the American Humane Association and E-Chievement Award from E-Town Environmental Radio Show. Besides being featured as a modern-day Noah by 60 minutes news, Pat was also a finalist in Animal Planet’s “Hero of the Year” selections and currently has two Emmy Awards for educational videos he helped produce.

I am a graduate of Oregon State University and a lifelong equestrian. I am also a former teacher at the secondary school level. My husband, Tom, and I have 5 wonderful children, and twelve incredible grandchildren, and live in Colorado with our two horses and a standard poodle.

I have always loved writing and using my imagination to create stories and characters. For seventeen years I coached Odyssey of the Mind and Destination Imagination teams for my kids. It was so fun helping them learn to write one-act plays.

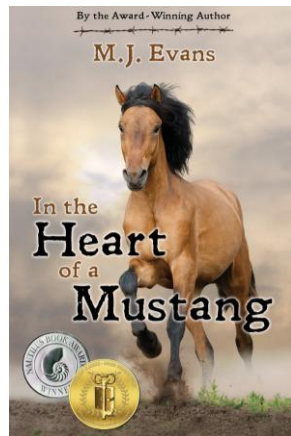

Because of my love for horses, this magnificent animal is the subject of most of my books...from the non-fiction equestrian trail guidebooks titled "Riding Colorado", "Riding Colorado II" and "Riding Colorado III" to my fantasy stories and novels.

I have known and loved many noble and great horses in my life, so I also decided to start a blog about them. You can learn about famous and loved horses at www.themisttrilogy.blogspot.com. I love riding on trails in the beautiful Colorado mountains and competing in Dressage. So, if I am not sitting at my computer writing a new story, you can find me sitting in a saddle!

In The Heart Of A Mustang

Hunter was told that his father was a brave soldier and virtuous man. Someone that Hunter needed to emulate. The only problem is that the whole story was a lie, all of it. The truth is that his father has spent the entirety of Hunter's life in jail, paying his sorry debt to society. Angry and hurt, Hunter gets into some serious trouble and is sent to Promise Ranch, a home for troubled teenage boys.

A wild mustang mare and her herd are rescued from certain starvation by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). In a sandy corral at Promise Ranch, Hunter and the mare meet. It takes a weathered, old cowboy to bring them together—a mentor for one, a trainer for the other. The bond that forms between boy and horse becomes one that saves the lives of both.

Dusty Pierce

New Mexico

A life-time of working with horses started my research on Pre-Columbian horses in the Americas.

Shortly after moving to Pagosa Springs, Colorado in the fall of 1978, I met Bob Browning, the iconic Horse Whisperer of San Juan County. I had been a horseback riding instructor since my youth, but it was with Bob Browning where I learned horsemanship through Ray Hunt, John Lyons and others. I worked with Bob Browning for 40-years using breed horses and the mustangs to improve attitude in youth of the Navajo Nation and other school, court, church, college, university, FFA, 4H and Boys and Girls club programs.

Special to my journey with horses and my research of them was working alongside Bob Browning in his 1990 initiative to revive the interest of the Appaloosa breed among the youth of the Nez Perce; riding the 1300-mile Chief Joseph Trail Ride where many oral history stories were told.

The Bob Browning Ranch became the number one mustang collection and adoption agency as he partnered with bait-trapper Dan Elkins in a contract with the Jicarilla Forest Ranger District; I had the honor to work with Bob and Dan to support an alternative to menacing all-terrain vehicles and helicopters to round up mustangs. It would be 2013 when Bob Browning and I introduced Laura Harper to Dan Elkins at a local café for her to learn his age-old but, at the time, novel method of bait and trap to be documented in Mustang of the Carracas Mesa.

I continue my research to answer the question Bob and I often entertained that continues to drive me back to the past to find the answer, “What came first in the domestication of the horse?”

Forever Branded

After many years in corporate America, Ann attended her first Extreme Mustang Makeover in 2007 which inspired both she and her husband to compete the following year. A member of several prominent activist groups, Ann began talking to the BLM and Mustang Heritage Foundation personnel at the EMM events and spending time with many knowledgeable horsemen and women throughout her time training for the EMM. These conversations opened her eyes to another view of the plight of America's wild horses and burros and led her to cut ties with the activist organizations and look for ways to educate others. The art of conversation comes easily to Ann so, in 2009, when Mustang Heritage Foundation invited her to join them, she jumped at the chance.

She began traveling the US with America's Mustang, MHF's educational initiative visiting schools, equestrian events and spreading the truth surrounding wild horse and burro management practices. Ann has attended BLM gathers, holding facilities and met with hundreds of trainers to gain firsthand knowledge to share with the public. Her name has become synonymous with America's Mustang, Mustang Heritage Foundation and now the Director of Outreach and Education for Forever Branded. She is frequently sought after as an expert on wild horses and has appeared as the subject of numerous podcasts, articles, and videos. Because of her unwavering desire to discuss mustangs and share her passion, 'Forever Branded' has a bright future concerning the education and outreach for the American mustang.

Connecting humans and HORSES Through Science-Based Horsemanship

West Taylor spent the first 25 years of his adult life pursuing the success in life he believed only existed by getting things done, by building a business, by living within an image and structure that society told him to be. Have the right job, live in the right neighborhood, drive the right vehicles, do all the things to meet society's definition of happiness. After 25 years of trying to meet the outside world's perceived expectations of himself West finally crashed his life, lost his business, all of his money and the lifestyle toys that came along with "keeping up with the Joneses."

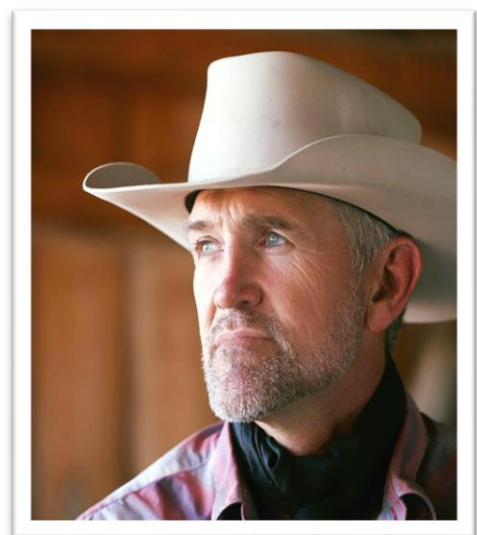

He found himself starting life over again at the age of 40, he moved his family back home to his grandfather's ranch to regroup and begin his new life.

"I don't know what I want to do, I just know it has something to do with horses" West told his wife Kami, This is the base of the next 15 years of his life. Learning and understanding how to train and work with Wild Horses. During this newly created version of himself West began to find the elusive happiness in life he was searching for, he found it in the wild horses. He found the value of patience, taking life at a much slower pace, he learned about himself and how to create an internal sense of safety for his life. West and his wife Kami of 35 years now host retreats for horse owners and individuals to experience his science-based Transformation Method at their ranch property in Southern Utah.

West is now known as an expert in his industry in proper training and handling of all breeds of horses. His scientific research has led him to developing his own training method known as West Taylor's Science Based Horsemanship and life lessons learned from horses.

Colorado Horse Source

Is an independently owned and operated print and online magazine for horse owners and enthusiasts of all breeds and disciplines in Colorado and surrounding areas. Our contemporary editorial columns are predominantly written by experts in the region, covering the care, training, keeping and enjoyment of horses, with an eye to the specific concerns in our region.

Why Colorado? Several years ago Karen visited Colorado Springs for an American Horse Publications Seminar. While riding through Garden of the Gods, she fell in love with the beautiful red rock formations and the desert landscape. The climate and riding opportunities were conducive to health conditions for both her family and her horse, April. When a best friend moved here five years ago, she kept urging Karen to move. The sunshine and year round riding was all it took to convince Karen it was time for a change. In April of 2021, Karen and her husband Mark moved the farm, business and home of over 32 years for a new adventure in Colorado. And so the Horse Source continues to expand.

Karen Pickering

Owner/Publisher Karen's lifelong love of horses began at a very early age when she wore out a couple of rocking horses before convincing her parents to get her the real thing. That ill-tempered bay gelding, Brandy, was a challenge for the young horsewoman, but it drove her ambition to become a horse trainer. After attending Canyonview Equestrian College's Horsemanship Program, Karen realized she needed work that was a little more lucrative than training, so she took a job with Customs Brokerage to pay the bills. There, she discovered an affinity for computers and a talent for creating informative, entertaining newsletters. The Northwest Horse Source began as such a letter in December 1995, with a distribution of 1000 copies for its 12 black and white pages. Now, over 27 years later, it's grown into two print and online magazines and websites with a reach of over 20,000 per month and growing! Then the Colorado Horse Source Magazine and website launched in March of 2022. Not bad for the results of one woman's dream to work with horses! Learn about the new venture here.

Today, Karen remains involved with every aspect of the magazine and treasures the community of thousands who share a common passion.

Takhin Equine Integration

The training of the horse as it's own human therapeutic intervention.

If a horse is going to transmit well-being to a human, it must have well-being to give. This applies to both horses in therapy settings as well as horses in riding schools, and sport.

Takhin is the Mongolian word for the wild horse – it means “honored one” or “revered one”. The Takhin program honors the horse’s need for play, herd socialization, purpose, and bodily and mental development.

It also honors the equine professional who is trying to do their best for their horse and clients, but often lack the time to address both.

Takhin is a program that will enable you to teach your clients with trauma, depression and related conditions to work with equine play, lunging, in hand work and long reins, to not only ensure the horses’s well-being but to also empower themselves.

Youth & Mustangs

Mustang Leadership Partners (MLP) was established in February 2009 to provide girls and young women with an opportunity to develop, practice, and improve relationship skills, responsibility, social accountability, self-awareness and self-confidence—all of which are mirrored in the mustang's behavior. Providing hands-on science experiences and equestrian training, the MLP program is grounded in the belief that horses are mirrors to our energy systems and teach us important life lessons. The MLP program requires a year-long commitment and dedication to several academic and citizenship standards.

To participate in the MLP program, CGLA students must complete an application and are selected based upon their commitment to the MLP standards and their current academic standing. The program serves up to sixteen students (eight middle school and eight high school).

Mustang Champions

Mustang Champions is a nonprofit dedicated to the adoption and sale of American mustangs in BLM holding.

We share a deep belief that we can make a difference in the lives of American mustangs. Mustang Champions is a nonprofit dedicated to the adoption and sale of mustangs that have been gathered and are currently in BLM holding.

As a 501(c)(3) working in partnership with the Bureau of Land Management Wild Horse and Burro Program we can help to transition mustangs in holding into private care to lessen the burden of an abundance of animals, reduce the cost of care to the American taxpayer and help protect rangeland. Mustang Champions will create and manage programs and events that showcase the ability and diversity of mustangs with the sole purpose of getting mustangs adopted.

We are dedicated to the proper gentling, training, and treatment of mustangs. By enlisting qualified trainers, potential adopters, owners, and all Americans who want to support our efforts, we will prepare mustangs for homes outside of government holding. We provide educational and training resources to help those interested in and working with mustangs improve their skills and knowledge to ensure better handling and care of mustangs.

Mustang Champions will help educate the American public about wild mustangs, raising positive awareness for the BLM and the WH&B Program staff.

Our hope is that with our combined efforts and talents we can give American mustangs in holding an opportunity to demonstrate their abilities as a companion or a champion.

We want to hero the American Mustang.

We are Mustang Champions.

Mustang Champions is proud to be a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit.

The Wild Horse Refuge is a private sanctuary that was created entirely for rescued Wild Mustangs that were taken from BLM Herd Management Areas (HMA) located within Colorado. The Wild Horses living on this special property are now protected and have regained the freedom and independence they had prior to government interference.

With more than 29 square miles of contiguous land to run free, their wild and free spirit has been restored. With the Refuge being located just 30 miles from the Sand Wash Basin, the horses feel right at home as they roam freely across the vast open spaces of the Refuge!

There are no paddocks, stock pens, fenced pastures, or other smaller and more restrictive spaces in use here. Instead of being relegated to pens or smaller pastures where they might have an occasional opportunity to run one or two hundred yards - or possibly even a few thousand feet... the wild horses living at the Refuge continue to run until they choose to stop.

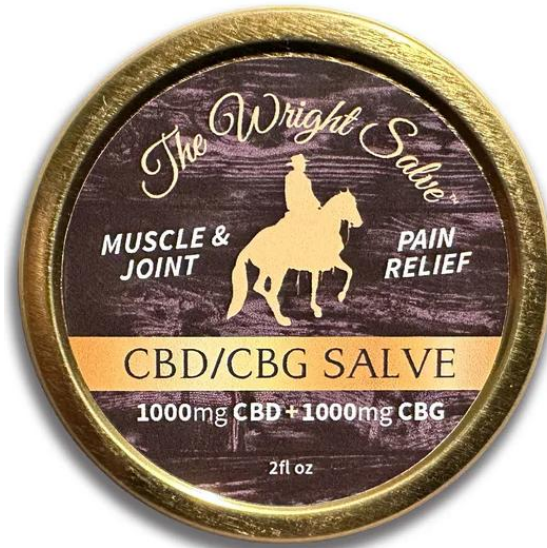

It is truly a beautiful sight to see when these wild horses are able to regain control of where they go and what they do completely on their own!

The Wild Horse Refuge is a completely new facility that was acquired in order to create a special home for Colorado's native Wild Horses.

Wild horses (Mustangs) are allowed to roam freely within the Refuge - which has more than 22,500 acres of land for the horses to roam freely.

Take a young woman with a passion for horses looking for a grand adventure, add American Mustangs and a host of guest riders and you have the ingredients for the “Mustang Discovery Ride.” This documentary project will tell the story of a journey across the United States on the American Discovery Trail (ADT) featuring Mustang TIP trainer, Lisanne Fear, along with her Mustangs, dogs and support team. The team is covering 12 states, coast to coast from Delaware to California, riding previously wild Mustangs while packing, camping and speaking about the power of these amazing animals. Lisanne rode out from Delaware’s historic Cape Henlopen State Park on September 28, 2021, with members of the team and is continuing her adventures through Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, and California. The documentary will detail the struggles and triumphs that she encounters, most attributed to the kindness of strangers met along the journey. We will also feature aspects of the ADT in each state, Mustang adoptions inspired by the project, college and university equine programs utilizing Mustangs, Veterans Programs in existence and other Mustang-related stories. The goal of the ride is to cover 5,000 miles across the country while inspiring the adoption of 5,000 Mustangs into appropriate homes. Through the documentary film, related podcast/vodcast and documentary-series, we are trying to reach as many people as possible to make it happen!

There are currently 53,000+ wild horses in holding pens across America. Each and every one deserves a loving home. Have we inspired you to want to adopt one of these living legends? Join us if you’re inspired to adopt and want to find out more!

Julianne Neal, JA Media Productions, will direct a Documentary and Docuseries as the journey progresses. A team of EQUUS photojournalists and videographers will contribute to the film, each adding individual creative perspective of the ride. Sponsors Mustang Heritage Foundation, Espana Silk, Crypto Aero Feeds and Omega Fields are joining the Mustang Discovery Foundation in supporting the team along the way. Follow the team's progress on social media or visit www.mustangdiscovery.com to learn more about the ride. Mustang of THE CARRACAS MESA: A HISTORY OF THE JICARILLA MUSTANGS AND MUSTANGERS - USA

Directed by: Laura Harper

30:00 mins

More than three years ago, Laura Harper began work on a film script about her once-wild mustang, Rambo. As she delved into his life, she found Rambo's story connected the evolution of the horse to New Mexico's history and her own life here in San Juan County. Laura discovered that the horses used by the Conquistadors more than five hundred years ago to traverse New Mexico had an ancient bloodline that is found here today. Amazingly, a 2013 genetic analysis conducted by Dr. E. Gus Cothran, Department of Veterinary Integrative Bioscience, concluded the Old-World Iberian breed is conclusively a genetic marker present in the Jicarilla mustangs of Northern New Mexico and Rambo's DNA as well. By tracing the mustangs' bloodline, a wonderful history of New Mexico—its wild horses and its people—is revealed and vibrantly retold in Laura's film, "RAMBO of the Carracas Mesa: A History of the Jicarilla Mustangs and Mustangers."

The film features local families that represent the diverse culture of Northern New Mexico and their personal relationships with the Jicarilla mustangs. It is through their individual stories that we learn the Jicarilla mustang's historic value to Northern New Mexico's culture. The documentary concludes with the idea that by joining nature, horsemanship, community, science, and technology, there can be a positive future for the mustangs and the approach of the mustangers.

Laura Harper

Laura lives in Dolores Colorado with her husband Greg and her horses, Dusty Dandy, RAMBO and Wendy. She currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Jicarilla Mustang Heritage Alliance, Editor of the Four Corners Equine Rescue newsletter publication and President of the San Juan County Historical Society, NM. She holds a MA in Organizational Management.
