The Wild Horse Refuge is a private sanctuary that was created entirely for rescued Wild Mustangs that were taken from BLM Herd Management Areas (HMA) located within Colorado. The Wild Horses living on this special property are now protected and have regained the freedom and independence they had prior to government interference.

With more than 30,000 square miles of contiguous land to run free, their wild and free spirit has been restored. With the Refuge being located just 30 miles from the Sand Wash Basin, the horses feel right at home as they roam freely across the vast open spaces of the Refuge!

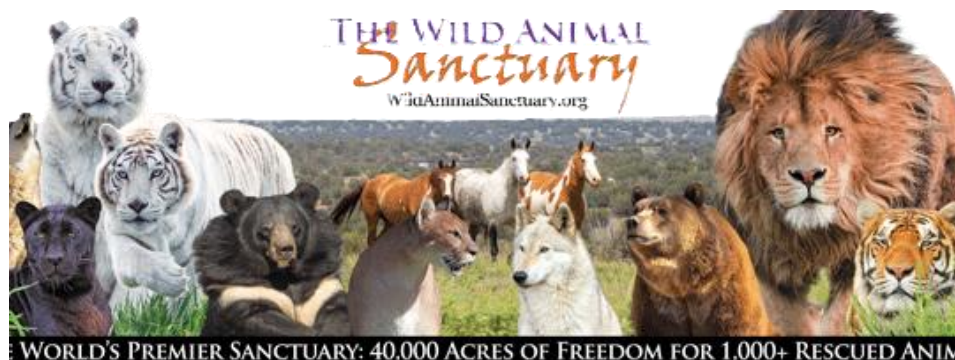

There are no paddocks, stock pens, fenced pastures, or other smaller and more restrictive spaces in use here. Instead of being relegated to pens or smaller pastures where they might have an occasional opportunity to run one or two hundred yards - or possibly even a few thousand feet... the wild horses living at the Refuge continue to run until they choose to stop.

It is truly a beautiful sight to see when these wild horses are able to regain control of where they go and what they do completely on their own!

The Wild Horse Refuge is a completely new facility that was acquired in order to create a special home for Colorado's native Wild Horses.

Wild horses (Mustangs) are allowed to roam freely within the Refuge - which has more than 22,500 acres of land for the horses to roam freely.

Wild Horse Symposium General Event Info

ARRIVAL & OPENING NIGHT (AUGUST 5TH)

The symposium begins in Steamboat Springs with a special evening screening of 5,000 Miles 5,000 Mustangs, presented in partnership with the EQUUS Film & Arts Festival. This WEDNESDAY EVENING opening event sets the tone for a week centered on storytelling, education, and connection within the Wild Horse community.

Additional film screenings will take place throughout the week at the iconic Wildhorse Cinema + Arts in Steamboat Springs.

FULL DAYS AT THE REFUGE (AUGUST 6TH-8TH)

From August 6th-8th, The Wild Horse Refuge will operate as an open-campus experience from 9:00 AM-4:00 PM daily. Guests will have access to speaker presentations and live Mustang training and gentling demonstrations led by experienced professionals working directly with the horses.

This offers guests a closer look at Wild Horse care, management, and rehabilitation in practice.

EXPLORE THE REFUGE

Guided Refuge Tours (AUGUST 6TH-8TH)

Guests will have the opportunity to experience more than 30,000 acres of Colorado's northwest landscape through guided Refuge tours. These tours offer a rare window into The Wild Horse Refuge and its mission of providing a safe home for Wild Horses in need of protection and lifelong care. Nearly 300 Wild Horses can be observed living and roaming across the range in natural herd conditions, reflecting the Refuge's commitment to preserving their instinctive behaviors, herd dynamics, and untamed spirit.

Evening Gatherings (AUGUST 6TH & 7TH ONLY)

As the day winds down, guests are invited to gather for complimentary food and drinks, campfire conversations, and Class II dark-sky stargazing beneath the expansive Colorado sky. Slow down, enjoy the night air, and spend time together under one of the clearest night skies in the country. Food will be served beginning at 6:00 PM and dark sky activities will begin around 8:00 PM!

FEATURED EVENT - WILD HORSE ADOPTION

On Saturday, August 8th, the Symposium will conclude with a featured on-site Wild Horse Adoption event. Guests will witness young Mustangs who have completed several days of professional training with experienced trainers from across the country as they take their next step into adoption and placement.

About the EQUUS Film & Arts Fest | Wild Horse Summit

The EQUUS Film & Arts Fest is the first event of its kind to offer a home to the storytellers of the horse world, with films, documentaries, videos, commercials, and shorts from around the world and cultural elements of fine equestrian art and literature. In 2025 EQUUS will host 12+ events from the Yukon to the UK. Looking toward a 2027 EQUUS Film Fest in Mongolia!

The Wild Horse Summit is an educational platform to raise awareness and understanding about the Wild Horses in holding, Sale Authority (aka S/A), auction yards, or just waiting, who available for adoption. A horse who has a safe and quiet start can be trainable and become a good partner. It is our mission to bring awareness to Wild Horses who need homes. Focusing on and highlighting the work taking place in the healing and equine assisted learning fields with horses. Providing resources for all who want to learn about the Off-Range wild horse.

Founded in 2013 by Lisa Diersen, Director/Organizer, an equestrian, who has spent her life in the company of horses. Lisa's mission is to show the world how horses can bring everyone together regardless of race, age, gender, abilities or disabilities. She resides in Saint Charles, Illinois, with her Jack Russell, Amore and her Lusitano, Urano.

Julianne Neal, with JA Media Productions, joined the team in 2016. As the EQUUS Film and Arts Fest Director of Production and Education. Julianne is a gifted storyteller and an important member of the team. Her ability to bring stories and events to life at the festivals and summits is an invaluable component of our events.

Every horse has a story, it's our mission at the EQUUS Film & Arts Fest to share those stories, through film, art and literature.

Bruce Anderson

South Carolina

Bruce Anderson is a passionate and enthusiastic trainer and clinician who firmly believes not only in the power of the horse, but also in our responsibility to help horses acclimate into our modern world. Bruce grew up on the West Indian islands of Trinidad and Tobago and it was there on the family cocoa and coffee estate that he began his relationship with horses. He learned to ride on the estate and then represented his country on the National Show Jumping Team. From there he moved on to breeding farms at home, in the U.K. and in the U.S. While in England, he earned an agricultural degree at Merristwood College and in the U.S. where he worked in the Thoroughbred racing industry. He eventually moved into the hunter/jumper “A” show circuit, working in Camden, SC where he is now established as a trainer.

Bruce is certified through the Mustang Heritage Foundation's Trainer Incentive Program and enjoys working with Mustangs, but also appreciates working with owners and their horses to assist them in building better relationships. Bruce's gift is centered in his unique system of Natural Humanship™ developed over a lifetime of work with all types of horses. His recent experience working with feral horses has taken the system to another level. One of Bruce's most powerful and influential work settings took place in 2015 when he was called to the Bahamas to work with Nunki, the last feral mare in the line of Abaco Island Wild Horses, now extinct. That experience was the catalyst for a documentary featuring Bruce's life and work, “The Edge: Bruce Anderson's Natural Humanship™.” A selected presenter for the 2018 World Equestrian Games and 2020 EQUITANA USA, Bruce works with counselors and mental health professionals, law enforcement agencies, school and church groups across the southeastern US to provide Equine Assisted Services with partner Julianne Neal through Nature's View, Inc. and The Marley Project 501(c)(3).

George Brauneis

Colorado

Eagles and Wild Horses Ranch

George Brauneis is a lifelong horseman, wild horse advocate, storyteller, and the founder of Eagles and Wild Horses Ranch in western Colorado.

George grew up on the eastern edge of Roubideau Canyon, where the rugged country rises toward the Uncompahgre Plateau—land that was once part of the Ute Nation. Long before he dreamed of becoming an author, those canyons became his playground. Nearly every day brought a new adventure as he explored the mesas, arroyos, hidden springs, and winding trails with his trusty horse, Taffy; his steadfast mammoth burro, Old Ed; and his three faithful dogs—Finster, Zorro, and Licorice. Those childhood adventures instilled a lifelong appreciation for wildlife, wild places, and the stories that nature quietly tells to those willing to listen.

His love of horses began almost as soon as he could walk. At just six years old, George wrote letters to Congress and the President in support of Wild Horse Annie and the legislation that would eventually become the Wild Free-Roaming Horses and Burros Act of 1971. What began as a childhood passion grew into a lifelong calling.

After college, George's path led him to Southern California, where he worked in the aerospace industry as a technical engineer and information manager for a precision five-axis CNC manufacturing company serving aerospace leaders, including Northrop Grumman and Boeing. Among the many projects he supported were components that ultimately became part of the International Space Station. While his career helped support humanity's exploration of space, his heart never strayed far from the wild horses, wide-open landscapes, and timeless spirit of the American West.

Eventually, the call of home proved stronger than the lure of aerospace. George returned to western Colorado, where he now dedicates his days to caring for a herd of rescued wild horses and burros, preparing adopted mustangs for successful new homes, and working alongside organizations committed to protecting America's wild horses. His work has included many volunteer hours restoring habitat, improving water sources, removing obsolete fencing, supporting humane fertility control programs, and advocating for practical, science-based management that benefits healthy rangelands, wildlife, livestock, and wild horses alike.

The Watering Hole Chronicles grew naturally from those experiences. Inspired by both his childhood adventures and the remarkable personalities of the animals he has known throughout his life, the series brings together humor, friendship, adventure, and timeless life lessons. Characters like Sneaky Pete, Tahotay, Tux, Bart, Lucy, and the ever-watchful Magpie may be fictional, but their personalities—and many of their adventures—are rooted in the real world.

George believes every horse has a story, every landscape holds a memory, and every person—young or old—still has room for one more adventure. Through his writing, he hopes to remind readers that courage can be quiet, kindness is never wasted, and the best journeys are often measured not by the miles traveled, but by the friends made along the way.

Whether he's standing beneath an ancient cottonwood, watching a rescued mustang discover trust, or sharing a tale around an imaginary campfire, George hopes his stories inspire readers to see the world with a little more wonder, a little more compassion, and a little more joy.

Perhaps my greatest of equine teachers has been the American Mustang. Mustang training can be an incredibly humbling experience as they do not readily hand you their trust and their heart. You must earn it. In 2011 I began competing in Extreme Mustang Makeover events which require trainers to work with a Mustang for 3-4 months and then compete with their mounts. In 2012, I placed 4th in the finals and 2013 I was awarded 5th place and $50,700 in the first ever Mustang Million competition. I was the highest placing woman of the event. I have such an immense love and respect for Mustangs and am so grateful to the wonderful Mustangs in my life that opened up a world of opportunities for me.

Leiah Burnham

Colorado

I started riding with my dad at a young age, and joined him at rodeos and breaking colts. Throughout my life I have had horses by my side through all major life events- my quarter horse stallion was in my wedding, and all 4 of my kids sat on him as soon as they came home. Recently, I have competed my friesian sport horse in dressage, western dressage, working equitation, and obstacle challenges, as well as riding in a sidesaddle drill team. I love horses, and am very excited to gentle this sweet mustang and get him placed in a great home!

After riding 5000 miles across the country from Delaware to California, to inspire and educate the adoption of 5000 mustangs from holding, things have been relatively quiet now that I am back in my home state of Wyoming. I am actively working on a new project to continue to help mustangs find homes while also putting a large focus on helping humans with their mental health. Patrick Craig

Wild Horse Refuge

Colorado

Founder and Executive Director – Pat Craig – Pat began saving captive wildlife after learning that thousands of “surplus” animals were being kept in tiny cages in the back of zoos all across the country – with many being euthanized on a daily basis. Pat set out on a mission to help save these animals by building a small rescue facility on his family farm outside Boulder, CO. At age 19, Pat became the youngest state and federally licensed person in the country, as well as the first person to build a sanctuary dedicated to saving large carnivores and other animals.

Pat’s vision has led 44 years later to the oldest and largest nonprofit sanctuary in the world dedicated to rescuing captive exotic and endangered large carnivores that have been abused, abandoned, exploited or illegally kept. Beginning in 2022, Pat saw the need for a wild horse refuge to be created in order to help wild Mustangs in Colorado. He subsequently created the largest wild horse sanctuary in the United States by opening a 22,500-acre facility in northwest Colorado for Mustangs that were being removed from their native ranges by the BLM.

Pat’s 44 years of experience in captive large carnivore rescue, transportation, animal behavior and sanctuary development have led to his becoming a leading expert in the field. He spent more than a decade rescuing PMU horses back in the late 80's and early 90's and has rescued hundreds of horses in need while also operating three separate large carnivore sanctuaries.

Pat lectures regionally and nationally on captive wildlife rescue and transportation, great cat behaviors and diets, and has worked tirelessly toward better protection for these animals. He works hand-in-hand with the USDA, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Colorado Division of Wildlife, and many other state and national organizations in the never-ending fight to rescue animals in need. Pat has also worked with Canadian, Mexican, Spanish, Bolivian, Uruguayan, Panamanian and Peruvian, Lebanese and Korean government agencies on large and extremely complicated rescues from within their countries.

Pat oversees and participates in all TWAS’ operations, including rescues, both within the United States and abroad. Pat has over 44 years of experience in designing, building and operating specialized rescue equipment for use in transporting large carnivores and wild horses and manages the largest fleet of rescue equipment in the country. Stephanie didn't start riding until she was 34, but she's been making up for lost time ever since. After a few years of learning the basics, she went on a quest to find the perfect trainer—someone with eventing expertise and a natural, horse-first approach. That journey led her to Cayla and Wild Rose, and the rest is history!

Her horse family started with Gentleman Jack, whom she still has, but it didn't stop there. Stephanie is now also the proud “mustang mama” of Dougie, Zephyr and Oliver, all adopted from Wild Rose. Add a few dogs to the mix and “Swanson Acres” is always full of excitement, dirty boots, and a whole lot of heart.

By day, Stephanie is a Business Officer at a local University, where she puts her accounting and organizational skills to work. When not at her day job, she uses those same skills to support Wild Rose's mission, helping Mustangs find homes and helping youth trainers succeed. Swanson Acres also provides an important resource for Wild Rose horses by offering space for new arrivals to quarantine, a place for horses to rest and recharge after training, and additional room to support Wild Rose's growing needs when space with our exceptional trainers is at capacity.

Horses & Mental Health Panel at Theater

“The horses do the healing—we just hold the space.”

Erin Cain, an Equine Specialist in Mental Health & Learning with over 25 years of experience, has spent a lifetime forging quiet but powerful connections—between horses and humans, healing and presence, land and longing. A dedicated practitioner and guide, Erin’s work is rooted in a deep respect for the intuitive wisdom of horses and the belief that transformation often begins in stillness. Her approach is both professional and profoundly personal. Certified and trained in equine-assisted therapy, Erin brings a wealth of clinical knowledge to her practice. But it’s her lived experience—her resilience, her reverence, her listening—that sets her apart. With every session, she artfully integrates therapeutic techniques with the healing presence of horses, fostering spaces where people can explore, feel, and remember who they are beneath the noise.

A transformative experience at a Colorado ranch in 1995 marked the beginning of a deeper calling—one that would eventually reshape her life around the intersection of mental health, learning, and the healing power of equine connection..

“Pappa” Mike Cassedy

Kentucky

Author - “The Way”

Authors Corner at Wild Horse Cinema + Arts – Steamboat Springs

Spending summer after summer, watching, learning and riding up on the Rez, gave me that solid foundation of learning the horse.

Years of the love of the horse, brought me to my first mustang in 2017.

Attending a Pow Wow in Ohio, approached by a young lady who had a “free mustang” from a rescue organization for her green rider daughter’s 4-H introduction, was the start of my passion for the mustang.

Accepted three times for the KY EMM was an opportunity of a lifetime, though my first EMM was at the age of 65.

The passion carried over to my daughter, April Michelle Cassedy, and 14-year-old AD Adren Gross that became known as Team Pappa Mike.

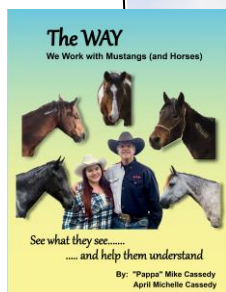

Over the last 5 years, Team Pappa Mike has worked with over 30 mustangs of various degrees in their training.

What we found after our very first mustang, One Horse’s Journey, barn name “Journey”, was the large number of mustangs that horse people were either incapable or lack the training ability to move forward with their adopted mustangs.

We decided we would no longer adopt untouched mustangs (with exceptions of the EMM Competition) but would focus on helping others with their mustangs and/or taking on abandoned mustangs.

Journey is still with April Michelle along with 3 other mustangs and I have Wakiyan, my 2019 KY EMM Mustang and Akicita my other Pinto Mustang.

We continue to move forward and work with all levels of mustangs as it has become a “Whatever It Takes” mindset with these National Treasures through what we established as “The Way” we work with mustangs. Pappa Mike Cassedy.

I told everyone that I loved Casper (the pony) and I wanted to ride all by myself. No one else in my family was into horses, so I’m not sure they knew what they were getting into... But they let me start riding lessons when I was five and I haven’t stopped riding since!

Dusty Pierce

New Mexico

A life-time of working with horses started my research on Pre-Columbian horses in the Americas.

Shortly after moving to Pagosa Springs, Colorado in the fall of 1978, I met Bob Browning, the iconic Horse Whisperer of San Juan County. I had been a horseback riding instructor since my youth, but it was with Bob Browning where I learned horsemanship through Ray Hunt, John Lyons and others. I worked with Bob Browning for 40-years using breed horses and the mustangs to improve attitude in youth of the Navajo Nation and other school, court, church, college, university, FFA, 4H and Boys and Girls club programs.

Special to my journey with horses and my research of them was working alongside Bob Browning in his 1990 initiative to revive the interest of the Appaloosa breed among the youth of the Nez Perce; riding the 1300-mile Chief Joseph Trail Ride where many oral history stories were told.

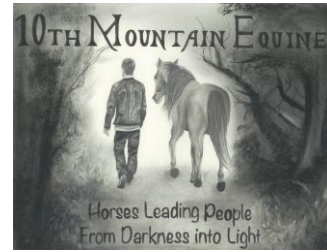

The Bob Browning Ranch became the number one mustang collection and adoption agency as he partnered with bait-trapper Dan Elkins in a contract with the Jicarilla Forest Ranger District; I had the honor to work with Bob and Dan to support an alternative to menacing all-terrain vehicles and helicopters to round up mustangs. It would be 2013 when Bob Browning and I introduced Laura Harper to Dan Elkins at a local café for her to learn his age-old but, at the time, novel method of bait and trap to be documented in Mustang of the Carracas Mesa. I continue my research to answer the question Bob and I often entertained that continues to drive me back to the past to find the answer, “What came first in the domestication of the horse?”

5000 Miles 5000 Mustangs

Directed by: Julianne Neal

100:00 mins

Filmmaker Panel Following Screening

What happens when you combine a passion for wild horses with a quest for grand adventure? In 2021/2022, the result was the “Mustang Discovery Ride.” Produced by JA Media Productions and directed by Julianne Neal, the 5000 Miles 5000 Mustangs Documentary captures the 14 month long ride of Wild Horse trainer Lisanne Fear, along with her team of Mustangs. Joined by support staff, visiting videographers and a rotating host of guest riders, Lisanne’s team experienced the extremes of major cities and remote wilderness as they crossed the country on the American Discovery Trail (ADT), riding previously wild Mustangs while packing, camping and speaking about the power of these amazing animals. From the Atlantic shores of Delaware to the Pacific coast of California, the film follows the team through grueling heat waves, intense wind storms, and encounters with everything from copperheads to wild herds. Set against the rugged beauty and diverse landscapes of the ADT, the documentary mirrors Lisanne’s mission to bridge the gap between wild horse advocacy and public awareness while showcasing the raw spirit of the Mustang. Attendees will experience a visually stunning film that is both a call to action and a love letter to America’s wild horses. The documentary release in 2026 is timed to coincide with the America 250 commemoration, the perfect backdrop to honor one of our nation's most enduring Living Legend.

America's Wild Horse Crisis

22:00 mins

Directed by: Julie Karp

Filmmaker Panel Following Screening

America's wild horses are among the most recognizable and misunderstood animals in the American West. This documentary explores the beauty, struggle, and present-day reality of America's free-roaming wild horses and why their future has become one of the most complex land-management challenges in the United States.

Under the Western Skies

“SPECIAL SIZZLE!!!”

Directed by: Natalie Aramendia

Kristyn can handle rugged land, stubborn cattle, and impossible odds. What she is not prepared for is the possibility that saving her family's ranch may require help from a tech-savvy outsider with shiny cowboy boots. Fiercely independent and deeply tied to the traditions of ranch life, Kristyn has spent her life proving she can carry her family's legacy forward. But when foreclosure threatens the future of the ranch, she is forced to consider a future she never wanted – one shaped by innovation instead of instinct.

That future arrives in Jordan, a charming city-bred neighbor whose modern ideas challenge everything Kristyn has fought to preserve. As their worlds clash, Kristyn must navigate the tension between tradition and progress, pride and vulnerability, duty and desire.

A Ranch Musical is a romantic western about family, identity, and the courage it takes to embrace change without leaving your roots behind.

Director - Peter Melhado

Peter Melhado is a Charleston based photographer and filmmaker. While Peter shoots a broad spectrum of subjects, his passion projects tend to revolve around the relationship between humans and nature.

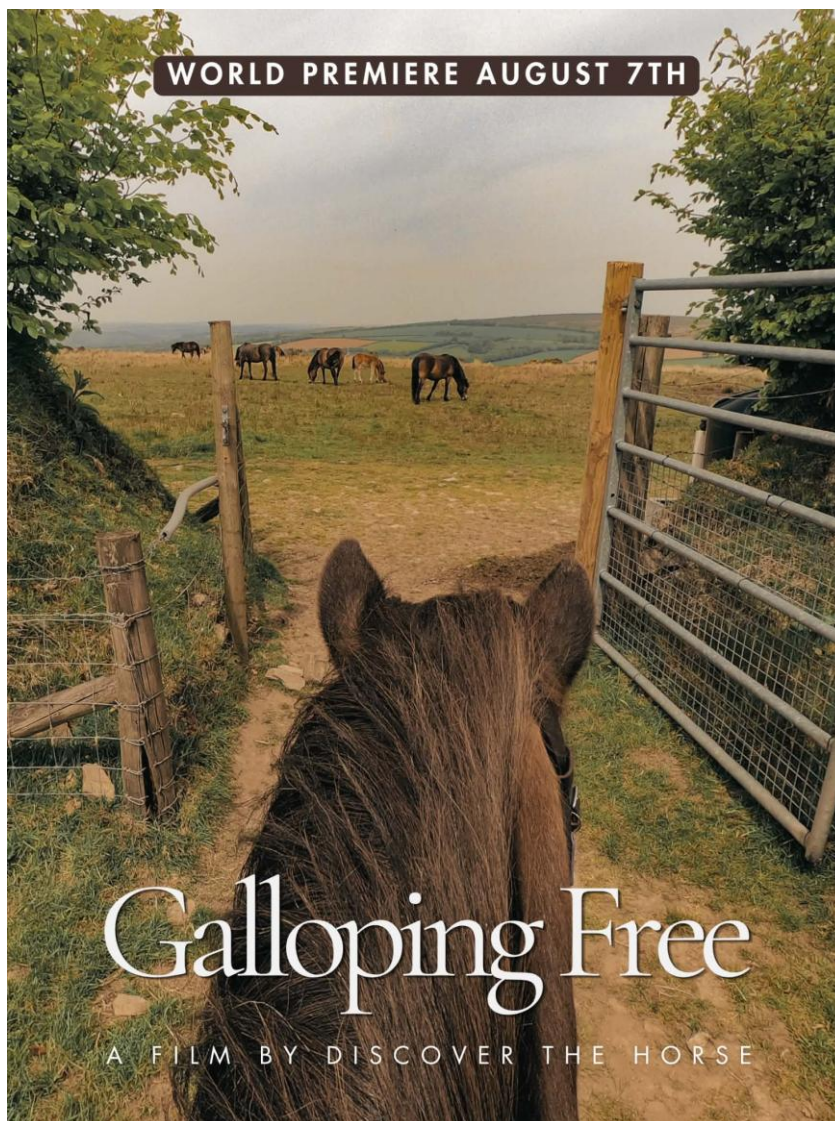

I was drawn to the story of the mustang as I believe it speaks to the broader societal shift away from nature and our tendency to be a throw away culture. As a solo filmmaker with limited budget and time, getting this project completed was tricky to say the least, but I was honored to be able to tell this story.

I have been horse crazy for as long as I can remember. My Mom always likes to tell the story about bringing me to a birthday party when I was three years old. I told everyone that I loved Casper (the pony) and I wanted to ride all by myself. No one else in my family was into horses, so I'm not sure they knew what they were getting into... But they let me start riding lessons when I was five and I haven't stopped riding since!

Mustang of The Carracas Mesa: A History of the Jicarilla Mustangs and Mustangers

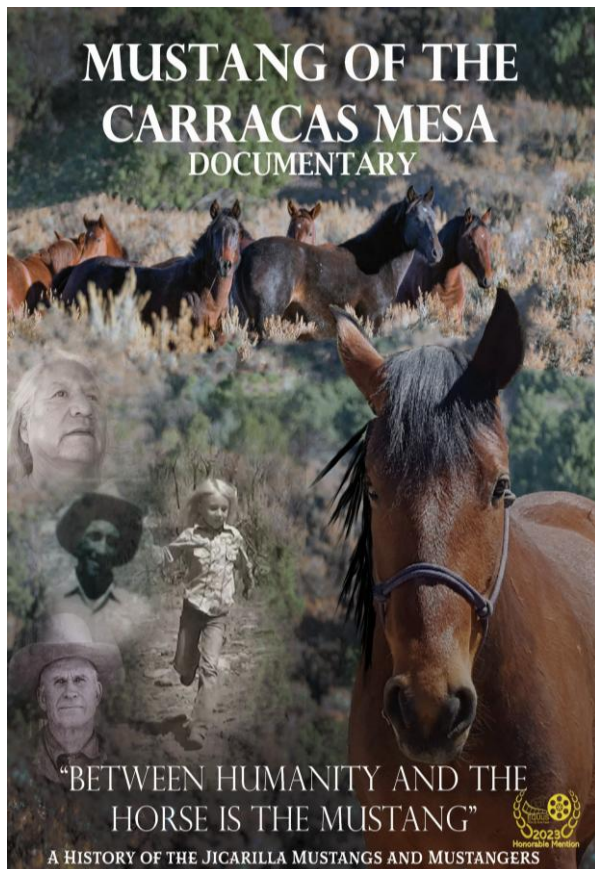

30:00 mins

Directed by: Laura Harper

Filmmaker Panel Following Screening

More than three years ago, Laura Harper began work on a film script about her once-wild mustang, Rambo. As she delved into his life, she found Rambo's story connected the evolution of the horse to New Mexico's history and her own life here in San Juan County. Laura discovered that the horses used by the Conquistadors more than five hundred years ago to traverse New Mexico had an ancient bloodline that is found here today. Amazingly, a 2013 genetic analysis conducted by Dr. E. Gus Cothran, Department of Veterinary Integrative Bioscience, concluded the Old-World Iberian breed is conclusively a genetic marker present in the Jicarilla mustangs of Northern New Mexico and Rambo's DNA as well. By tracing the mustangs' bloodline, a wonderful history of New Mexico—its wild horses and its people— is revealed and vibrantly retold in Laura's film, "RAMBO of the Carracas Mesa: A History of the Jicarilla Mustangs and Mustangers."

The film features local families that represent the diverse culture of Northern New Mexico and their personal relationships with the Jicarilla mustangs. It is through their individual stories that we learn the Jicarilla mustang's historic value to Northern New Mexico's culture. The documentary concludes with the idea that by joining nature, horsemanship, community, science, and technology, there can be a positive future for the mustangs and the approach of the mustangers.

Laura Harper

Laura lives in Dolores Colorado with her husband Greg and her horses, Dusty Dandy, RAMBO and Wendy. She currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Jicarilla Mustang Heritage Alliance, Editor of the Four Corners Equine Rescue newsletter publication and President of the San Juan County Historical Society, NM. She holds a MA in Organizational Management.

Throw Away Horses

Directed by: Theresa Demarest

97:00 mins – USA

Through interviews, photos, and the use of both archival and new footage filmed by and/or obtained by Joshua Records, LLC, the filmmaker has divided the film into 4 to 5 sections portraying the multifaceted and sometimes tragic lives of the modern day horse. To tell the story and engage the audience in this critically needed feature film, the filmmaker explored modern day horse life from private ownership to commercial use. The filmmaker follows what happens to individual horses and the impact it has on the people in their lives. This film has a special focus on rescue operations, delving into both the journey of the horses and the people who run these organizations.

Director Theresa Demarest

When I was growing up in Sacramento California, every few years a guy would come around with a pony and a camera and convince parents in the neighborhood to have him take pictures of their kids on his pony. That pony made a huge impression on me and as I grew older, I longed to be around horses. Then one day, after retiring from years of Critical Care Nursing as an RN, I answered an ad in the paper that read: "Do you love horses, and would you like to learn to ride." That's when I met my match, my mentor, my spirit guide, my sometimes nemesis, my wizard, my teacher, my yoda, my other worldly companion. She was 6 months old and her DNA is among the hottest, most intelligent, most athletic breeds there is. Me, on the other hand, would have been considered what experienced horse owners would call: 'A dope with a rope'. I named her Tehya Takota and her 6-month-old response to me was: "You and whose army" It took years and mountains of forgiveness on Tehya's part for me to learn what I know now: her language.

My background in journalism, photography, and documentary filmmaking has shaped the way I see the world: with curiosity, care, and a desire to understand what lies beneath the surface.

As a filmmaker, I am interested in stories about people, place, the environment, and the connections between them.

THE WILD HORSE

CRAIG
COLORADO

Refuge

30,000
ACRES

The Wild Horse Refuge is a private sanctuary that was created entirely for rescued Wild Mustangs that were taken from BLM Herd Management Areas (HMA) located within Colorado. The Wild Horses living on this special property are now protected and have regained the freedom and independence they had prior to government interference.

With more than 29 square miles of contiguous land to run free, their wild and free spirit has been restored. With the Refuge being located just 30 miles from the Sand Wash Basin, the horses feel right at home as they roam freely across the vast open spaces of the Refuge!

There are no paddocks, stock pens, fenced pastures, or other smaller and more restrictive spaces in use here. Instead of being relegated to pens or smaller pastures where they might have an occasional opportunity to run one or two hundred yards - or possibly even a few thousand feet... the wild horses living at the Refuge continue to run until they choose to stop.

It is truly a beautiful sight to see when these wild horses are able to regain control of where they go and what they do completely on their own!

The Wild Horse Refuge is a completely new facility that was acquired in order to create a special home for Colorado's native Wild Horses.

Wild horses (Mustangs) are allowed to roam freely within the Refuge - which has more than 22,500 acres of land for the horses to roam freely.

Espana Silk Products

Trudy Midas, Co-Founder/President

4025 Orleans Ln N Minneapolis, MN 55441

The story of Espana natural grooming products goes back to 1999 and an accident in an indoor arena. Trudy Midas, co-owner of the company with husband, Bob Hansen, was thrown from her horse and broke her back making it impossible to ride again for four years. After three surgeries and years of extensive rehabilitation she was still only able to provide daily grooming and maintain the all-important animal/human bond.

During this time Trudy used virtually every grooming product on the market. The harsh chemicals in some made Bob wonder if these ingredients could be harmful to Trudy and/or her horse. The owners of seven racehorses and two pleasure horses at the time, Trudy and Bob began investigating better options. Their research indicated that a new all-natural equine grooming line would be a welcome addition in the stables.

They then set out to develop the line of all natural products that would be effective and safe for humans and animals. This process included consultations with chemists, and additional research and development which led to the inclusion of silk proteins as a key ingredient and to the pleasant signature cucumber-spa fragrance of all Espana SILK products. Finally, in 2006, the husband-and-wife team found an experienced, quality manufacturer to produce their all-natural line of grooming products.

About

For more than three decades, Kerry M. Thomas has researched the behavioral and sensory systems that shape how horses experience the environments we create for them.

His research into Herd Dynamics and Sensory Soundness explores how horses interpret pressure, process sensory information, and form emotional responses within training, management, and performance settings.

Rather than focusing only on physical movement or performance outcomes, Thomas's work examines the psychology of the equine athlete—the internal framework that influences stress tolerance, decision making, and behavioral expression.

His work has been shared internationally with trainers, institutions, and equestrian organizations seeking deeper insight into equine behavior, welfare, and performance sustainability.
