LISTED: ABC STAFF WHO HELPED BRUCE PASCOE HOAX

"Aboriginal historian" Bruce Pascoe is now exposed even in the Sydney Morning Herald as the peddler of a giant hoax. Will ABC staff who promoted him, vilified his critics and claimed his fake evidence was real now apologise? Click here for the amazing list, and please suggest anyone I missed. Note: not a single ABC staffer ever expressed doubt.

If Andrew Bolt's publicly shitting himself over it, you know it's good.

Semi-regular reminder: Dark Emu will recalibrate everything you about about Aboriginal architecture, engineering and agriculture on this continent.

Give it to your non-Indigenous relatives this Christmas.

Will the ABC finally apologise for its role in helping "Aboriginal historian" Bruce Pascoe perpetrate the greatest literary hoax in Australian literary history?

Conservatives have called out Pascoe for a couple of years, pointing out there's zero proof for his claim to be Aboriginal, and that he invented evidence for his claim that Aborigines were "farmers" living in "houses" with "pens" in "towns" of "1000 people".

But Pascoe continued to be worshipped and rewarded, with Melbourne University even appointing him as a professor, and writers festivals making him a star turn.

Pascoe was getting away with it in part because media outlets of the Left refused to publish the evidence against him, and demonised the conservatives who did. Pro-Pascoe media outlets even took to photographing Pascoe in gloomy black and white, or in shadow, making his very white skin look darker. Yes, it really was that absurd.

But no media outlet did more than the national broadcaster to promote Pascoe, especially in schools, and to protect him from any scrutiny. The ABC promoted fake as real and falsehood as truth, and vilified conservatives who pointed out the fraud. They did this when the facts were in plain sight, if only they cared to look.

Now that even the Sydney Morning Herald has exposed \(some of\) the fake claims of Bruce Pascoe, admitting he "distorts and exaggerates", will the following ABC staff finally apologise and correct the record?

This is inevitably just a partial list of all the ABC staffers who promoted and defended Pascoe, and the ways they did so.

But note this: I cannot think of a single staffer in the ABC, our biggest media outlet and the one meant by law to be impartial, who criticised Pascoe and called out his obvious hoax. Not a single one.

As with the George Pell case, the ABC showed a total group think in pushing a manifest untruth. It showed both its bias and its contempt for facts that challenged its group-think.

Thankyou Andrew for your work here. The whole idea that we can pigeon hole debates into left and right, then only look in 'our' pigeon hole for the truth, runs counter to everything we know about the journey toward truth. It's a great big argumentum ad hominem, the worst of the logical errors.

Dear Andrew We are in the middle of a global pandemic, the PM made a fool of himself at the G7, China seems to want to start WW3, the Royal Family is falling apart and Gladys has a new boyfriend. And yet you see fit to publish seven columns on a badly researched book (yes I counted them). OK - you won - yay! There is no need to bayonet the wounded.

Absolutely fascinating. I was quite ignorant about the ABC and this author. Thanks for the doubt over when I hear them now. Healthy

Wonder when the state governments will pull Pascoe's fictional book out of the schools where it is presently being used as a "textbook" to brainwash our kids.

The ABC needs collapsing and starting again. It's hopelessly broken

Who in their right mind would start again? The days of the government owning a media organisation have long gone. Just scrap it. Or let the luvvies have it and run it by their subscriptions.

Everyone of those listed above are the reasons I no longer watch or listen to the ABC Well not quite true,I still watch Landline and Gardening Australia after recording and fast forwarding the climate change guff. These overpaid staff do not tempt many that I know as they pontificate on so many matters. Time for them to get a real job.

The " usual suspects " again propping up this cattle manure... No surprise there, Andrew.

Ben Law has little to no grasp of the truth when it comes to historical fact. His " documentary " where he trashed Young, NSW was a bloody disgrace.

Law is one of the ABC's greatest lightweights - and in that company, that's saying something.

Report within the narrative. Easy and cost effective for so called Journalists. That profession is morphing into entertainers/activists. With newspapers and T.V. stations struggling financially, as a result of the onslaught of rapid social media, attractive to the younger generation, the cost effectiveness of a predetermined narrative is obvious. Sadly I cannot offer a solution.

However the ABC has taxpayer guaranteed funding and should not be reporting within a narrative.

As with the George Pell case, the ABC will collectively shrug its shoulders and move on to the next crusade.

WHAT THE ABC FAILED TO SAY ABOUT THIS "STOLEN GENERATIONS" STORY

The ABC last week tried again to push the "stolen generations" story. Once again it left out critical facts. Why did it want viewers not to know Margaret Somerville was actually a saint, and much loved?
