Modes of Delivery

Option 1 - Face-to-face

All students if they require, have the opportunity of undertaking their training in a face-to-face format with a trainer/assessor at any one of the above locations. For enterprises or existing workers, the same arrangements can be made or alternatively training can take place at your worksite. Please discuss with your trainer/assessor. A student has 12 months to complete their studies through this option. There is a guideline of how long each unit of competency may take to complete (above).

Option 2 - Online

AIPMT have all their resources available from a log in process via their website. Upon enrolment and payment of fees, students will receive their password to log in to the training area. Once accessed, students will be able to download resources and their work books and progress through these in a self-paced model. The required textbook and DVD will be forwarded via post. A student has 12 months to complete their studies through this option. There is a guideline of how long each unit of competency may take to complete (above)

Option 3 - Paper-based/CD

AIPMT appreciate that not all students have access to the internet. If this is the case, we can forward you all materials on a CD for the student to access via paper base. The student will also receive at the same time, the textbook and DVD. A student has 12 months to complete their studies through this option. There is a guideline of how long each unit of competency may take to complete (above)

Option 4 - A combination of any of the above

A combination of any of the above. AIPMT appreciate that students have different needs at different times. It may be a case that a student commences their studies face-to-face, but would require the remainder of their study to be completed either online or using a paper-base system. AIPMT will accommodate this request if possible. Please discuss with your trainer/assessor. It is to be noted that, a student is still expected to complete their studies within 12 months. There is a guideline of how long each unit of competency may take to complete (above).

Other Information

AIPMT has no third party providing training and/or assessment on their behalf, so please contact us directly for any information you may need. There are no work placement arrangements. For those students who are new to the industry, the practical assessment will be in a simulated environment at one of the RTO's locations.

AIPMT will support the student at all times and our trainers/assessors can be contacted via telephone or email.

Once a student has completed all written and practical assessments for this qualification, a certificate will be issued immediately. If a student withdraws from the course before they complete all units, they will receive Statements of Attainment for those units they did complete. A Statement of Attainment will be issued immediately

AIPMT appeals and complaints processes are included in our Student Handbook, available on this website.

The student does not need to supply any resources to undertake this training.

If you have any other questions, please do not hesitate to contact us. If you are happy to undertake training and assessment with AIPMT please proceed to the application form and complete.
