Judgment Enforcement – The Step-by-Step Course

FIRST THINGS FIRST

How to read this Course

Thank you for purchasing my course. I promise you the best Program, the best Course materials and the best support.

Here you'll learn your new judgment enforcement business the same way you learned how to type and how use a computer: By doing it, step by step. If you're tempted to take shortcuts, I hope you won't. Think of yourself as a craftsman. If you're building a house, you begin with a good foundation. Then build on it. You'll need the right tools and materials. That's what I hope to give you here, and much more. If you're like other successful people in this business, you'll need support at first. I certainly did. I would not have made it in this business without help from others.

I've been in the Judgment Enforcement business for 18 years. I'm not an attorney, so I can't give legal advice. And I won't. But I can share what I've learned, and what I think are the best steps to learning judgment enforcement thoroughly and being successful.

→ You'll have my help. I'll show you the mistakes I've made, many of which everyone makes when setting out in this business. You can avoid them. If I had this course when I started, I would have saved myself 2 years.

I've worked in a number of states, and every state is the same in some ways, and each has its little or even weird differences. When I didn't know something, I researched it and sought out help from others. You can too.

Judgment Enforcement – The Step-by-Step Course

This Course is just part of your Judgment Enforcement Program. There are more lessons, as well as templates, forms, and procedures for each of the 50 states on our Forum at JRSpecialists.ProBoard.com. The forum is one of your lifelines. Please use it.

You probably won't need to read my course straight through. There's a lot here, and even more on the Forum. So, I'm recommending that you start with the foundation. That you start by learning just 7 things:

1. What the business is
2. How to locate judgments
3. How to investigate the defendant/debtor
4. How to screen out crummy judgments and identify the good ones
5. Identifying which of the 6 main methods of enforcing judgments to use
6. How to reach out to the plaintiff/creditor
7. How to get the judgments into your name so that you can enforce them.

This means that you don't have to know everything to start. That's good. Start simple and grow. Then, when you find a good judgment (I'll show you how to ID them in your investigations) you turn to the section in this course and the information on the forum to see how to enforce it. You'll be doing your own research. You'll be learning tons. You'll be getting frustrated. It's a business, so get over it.

I'll be as thorough as I can. If anything isn't clear, you have my support through:

- ✓ personal mentoring,
- ✓ my online meet ups.
- ✓ ongoing Forum mentoring by myself and others, including templates and certain specifics on your state's rules and enforcement procedures.

Ask any question on the Forum or in our mentoring sessions, and I'll be the best guide that I can. I promise.

Now, let's get started.
