|      | Camellia sinensis is an evergreen plant that grows in tropical and sub-tropical climates. Tea plants require at least 100-125 cm of rainfall a year and prefer acidic soils. Many of the world's best tea estates are located on hill slopes at elevations of up to 1500 metres: it is said that the tea plants grow slowly and acquire a richer flavour at this height. | .e.r/ . |
