ENVIRONMENTAL CONSULTING SERVICES

VEGETATION AND WETLAND SERVICES

RedFISH takes pride in our experience, knowledge, and broad range environmental services we provide to our clients throughout North America. From wetland delineation to permitting to vegetation restoration, RedFISH has a qualified team to address the requirements of your project. Our plant ecology and wetland team network is strategically located across North America, and provides local ecological knowledge that is necessary for the highest quality vegetation/wetland support. We have the experience and knowledge to assess all wetland types from freshwater and estuarine to marine wetland systems. Our team has conducted wetland determinations and 404 permitting across many of the US Army Corps of Engineers regional areas including the Atlantic and Gulf Coastal Plain, Arid West, Eastern Mountains and Piedmont, and the Western Mountains Valleys and Coasts. We are committed to providing accurate vegetation assessments and scientific defensible determinations for wetland resources. Specific vegetation and wetland assessment related services include:
