

The Future First Responders of America (an LEOCode4.org) Youth Program is a proprietary, nationwide and community-based first responder training program that focuses to empower youth, ages 13 up to their 18th birthday.

This program is meant to increase a young person's potential through wholesome activities that emphasis on: leadership, becoming a responsible citizen, making good choices, patriotism, and community service. It is considered the Nations signature youth program and has proven to be successful across America.

The F.F.R.O.A. Program represents LEOCode4's promise and commitment to lead, provide direction, and give mentorship to the youth of the United States with compassion, care and concern.

ADULT VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

F.F.R.O.A. needs adult volunteers to help the Unit grow and learn. Adults ages 21 and up are welcome to apply to become a ranking member of their local unit. Experience with youth is preferred but not necessary. All ranking volunteers are trained personnel to deal with youth in a First Responder atmosphere. See the website to apply.

WHAT WILL F.F.R.O.A CADETS LEARN

This program will cover the major aspects and job roles of working with first responders of all kinds. Youth are exposed to different types of first responder agencies such as Firefighter, Law Enforcement Paramedic, EMT/EMS, 911 Dispatch, Corrections, Security, K9-Canine, Military, Search & Rescue, US Forestry, Game & Fish, Lifeguard, CSI & Technology, Animal Control, HAM Radio Operator, FEMA/CERT (Citizens Emergency Response Team) and more. Members will receive continuous training on various topics related to the positions which will develop individual knowledge and skills. The program will allow them to meet others their age with similar interests. It is designed to benefit responsible, honest and hard-working youth.

The Future First Responders of America receive leadership skills, community outreach, teamwork, training & tactics, some of which include first aid / CPR, radio communications, defense. Graduated Cadet's also assist other First Responder Agencies with regular departmental tasks. Members help with civic functions, fundraising and other community services projects.
