Father Michael's Musings for June

It is surprising how often the timing of the Church calendar reflects the perfect message for the times. This year, we enter into the month of June bracketing the celebration of the feast of the Pentecost on the last day of May with the onset of Trinity season beginning the first Sunday of June. The progression from Pentecost to Trinity is the perfect model for us as we creep out from under the dark shadows of COVID 19 world and into a world which is ripe for change.

We have certainly been beset by fear and by difficult challenges as we have adjusted to the COVID-19 realities. However, our experience pales next to the experience of the Apostles. Their roller coaster went from expecting to accompany Jesus as He was crowned King on Palm Sunday, to the despair and mortal fear of Good Friday, the miraculous joy of Easter, and then the confounding departure of Christ again as He was lifted into the clouds at the Ascension. They were shell shocked and paralyzed both by fear and by the awesome burden of the mission Jesus had left them. How could they preach the Good News to the world when the world still threatened to have them murdered for daring to espouse the message of Love.

When the Holy Spirit descended upon them in the form of tongues of fire, they were transformed from fearful and frozen men into the great saints and martyrs that would transform the entire world within a single generation. At the celebration of Pentecost, we learn that the Holy Spirit did not stop with transforming the Apostles, but that through them, we also are transformed from creatures of doubt and despair into the very hands and voice of Christ to comfort the despondent and reclaim the world from fear and death. Our challenges are going to be great, but not as daunting as the Apostles, and we will be lit with the same power that enlightened them.

Trinity is the season for us to contemplate how the love of Christ converts the world and grows the church in holiness. As we enter this Trinity season, we should be especially mindful that tools that God uses to affect that conversion are the courage with which we face our fears and the charitable and loving kindness we share in the face of our own difficulties. We may doubt that we can be great evangelists, and our words and understanding will often fail us in that effort. However, the Gospel is most powerfully shared in the lives we live rather than in the words we share. Remember at Pentecost, the Apostles did not speak in every tongue. Instead, the people they addressed heard the word of God in the tongue that was perfect for them. Our job is to live Godly lives, and the Holy Spirit will transform those lives into the perfect words for world post COVID 19. The Holy Spirit will lead us unto a new age of faith and hope.

May God bless you all.

Father Michael
