agreed to receive the notice electronically. We will provide you with a paper

Choose someone to act for you

- If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your rights and make choices about your health information.
- We will make sure the person has this authority and can act for you before we take any action.

File a complaint if you feel your rights are violated

- You can complain if you feel we have violated your rights by contacting us using the information on page 1.
- You can file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights by sending a letter to 200 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201, calling 1-877-696-6775, or visiting www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/complaints/.
- We will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint.

Your Choices

For certain health information, you can tell us your choices about what we share. If you have a clear preference for how we share your information in the situations described below, talk to us. Tell us what you want us to do, and we will follow your instructions.

In these cases, you have both the right and choice to tell us to:

- Share information with your family, close friends, or others involved in your care
- · Share information in a disaster relief situation
- Include your information in a hospital directory
- Contact you for fundraising efforts

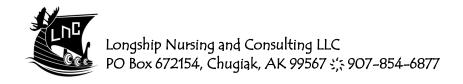

If you are not able to tell us your preference, for example if you are unconscious, we may go ahead and share your information if we believe it is in your best interest. We may also share your information when needed to lessen a serious and imminent threat to health or safety.

In these cases we never share your information unless you give us written permission:

- Marketing purposes
- Sale of your information
- Most sharing of psychotherapy notes

In the case of fundraising:

 We may contact you for fundraising efforts, but you can tell us not to contact you again.

Our Uses and Disclosures

How do we typically use or share your health information? We typically use or share your health information in the following ways.

Treat you	 We can use your health information and share it with other professionals who are treating you. 	Example: A doctor treating you for an injury asks another doctor about your overall health condition.
Run our organization	 We can use and share your health information to run our practice, improve your care, and contact you when necessary. 	Example: We use health information about you to manage your treatment and services.
Bill for your services	 We can use and share your health information to bill and get payment from health plans or other entities. 	Example: We give information about you to your health insurance plan so it will pay for your services.

How else can we use or share your health information? We are allowed or required to share your information in other ways – usually in ways that contribute to the public good, such as public health and research. We have to meet many conditions in the law before we can share your information for these purposes. For more information see: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/index.html.

Help with public health and safety issues	 We can share health information about you for certain situations such as: Preventing disease Helping with product recalls Reporting adverse reactions to medications Reporting suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violence Preventing or reducing a serious threat to anyone's health or safety
Do research	• We can use or share your information for health research.
Comply with the law	 We will share information about you if state or federal laws require it, including with the Department of Health and Human Services if it wants to see that we're complying with federal privacy law.
Respond to organ and tissue donation requests	 We can share health information about you with organ procurement organizations.
Work with a medical examiner or funeral director	 We can share health information with a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director when an individual dies.
Address workers' compensation, law enforcement, and other government requests	 We can use or share health information about you: For workers' compensation claims For law enforcement purposes or with a law enforcement official With health oversight agencies for activities authorized by law For special government functions such as military, national security, and presidential protective services

Respond to lawsuits and legal actions

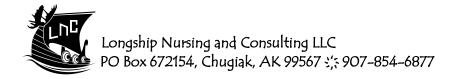

• We can share health information about you in response to a court or administrative order, or in response to a subpoena.

Our Responsibilities

- We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your protected health information.
- We will let you know promptly if a breach occurs that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information.
- We must follow the duties and privacy practices described in this notice and give you a copy of it.
- We will not use or share your information other than as described here unless you tell us we can in writing. If you tell us we can, you may change your mind at any time. Let us know in writing if you change your mind.

For more information see: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/noticepp.html.

Minors Privacy Rights: Alaska statutes (AS 25.20.025) permit a minor to obtain certain health care services without the consent of a parent or guardian. When the minor can consent to the services their health information cannot be released to anyone without the consent of the minor.

PATIENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Longship Nursing and Consulting LLC (hereinafter "Longship") understands the ethical and legal obligation it has to a patient regarding their rights when receiving medical care or treatment. These rights are designed to help ensure a patient receives appropriate and ethical healthcare while respecting their autonomy, dignity, and well-being. Alternatively, Longship requests patients recognize their unique role and responsibilities.

Informed Consent: Patients have the right to receive relevant and understandable information about their medical condition, proposed treatments, potential risks and benefits, and alternative options. Patients can then make informed decisions about their care after understanding the information provided. A patient has the right to ask questions at any point, change a decision, and seek second opinions.

Privacy and Confidentiality: Patients have the right to expect that their personal medical information will be kept confidential. Longship works hard to maintain the privacy of patient records and will only disclose information from the patients record either with consent or as required by law. To protect the confidential relationship, Longship representatives will not identify that a relationship exists while in public unless the patient initiates an interaction. Longship provides a separate Notice of Privacy Practices form.

Access to medical records: In general patients have the right to access medical records and obtain copies of their health information. Records are available to the patient or other medical/healthcare entities after a medical release of information (ROI) form that is compliant with Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) regulations has been signed by the patient. Records requested by the patient's other healthcare providers will be sent electronically free of charge. Printed or electronically copied (CD/DVD/USB) records requested by the patient will cost $5.00 per copy. Each entity requesting a medical record copy will require a separate ROI.

Nondiscrimination: Patients will be treated with fairness, respect, and without discrimination based on age, color, disability, genetic information, marital status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sex, sexual orientation, veteran status, or any other protected characteristic. Longship requests patients treat other patients and Longship representatives with similar respect.

Right to refuse or withdraw treatment: Patients have the right to refuse or discontinue treatment, even if it goes against medical advice, to the extent permitted by law. Patients have a right to make decisions about their own bodies and have the autonomy to accept or decline treatment. There are exceptions in certain circumstances, outlined by laws, such as when it may pose a risk to self or others.

Right to quality care: Patients have the right to receive high-quality, competent, and appropriate medical care that meets the standards of the healthcare profession. This includes being treated by qualified healthcare professionals in a safe and clean environment. Patients have the right to appropriately voice concerns about the service and care received.

Right to access to pain management: Longship understands patients have the right to have their pain assessed and manage appropriately. Longship does not manage chronic pain or chronic pain medications such as narcotics. Longship will assist patients in accessing specialties that manage chronic pain.

Advanced Directives: Patients have the right to choose an Advance Directive to designate the kind of care one wishes to receive should the patient be unable to express wishes. Longship does not prepare or draft Advanced Directives, but recommends copies be kept on file with Longship records.

Invoice Rights/Good Faith Estimate: Patients have a right to receive an itemized statement and detailed explanation of the bill, aka Superbill. Longship will provide a detailed invoice within 30 days of appointment completion. Upon request, Longship can provide a good faith estimate prior to an appointment. A good faith estimate is based on details provided by the patient before the appointment and before a clinical examination is done. Please be aware other costs may be incurred based on additional needs found during an exam, Longship seeks to keep patients informed of any additional costs or changes.

Minors Rights: A parent or legal guardian must provide consent on behalf of a minor (under age 18) before health care services are provided, with several important exceptions. These exceptions are based on status (i.e. legal independence from parents/guardians) or type of service (certain sexual health and reproductive health issues, emergency services, and certain instances when a parent or guardian cannot be reached). A minor's right to privacy and confidentiality may be legally overridden in certain circumstances. These situations include suspicion of abuse or neglect, including physical injury or neglect, mental injury, sexual abuse, sexual exploitation, maltreatment.

Patient Demands: A right to make decisions about health care does not mean that a patient can demand treatment and/or services that are medically inappropriate, unsafe, unlawful, or unnecessary.

Patient Responsibilities: Patients are responsible for asking questions and making sure the instructions given are understood. Patients are responsible for following the suggestions and advice prescribed in a course of treatment by Longship (this does not supersede a patient's right to refuse treatment or withdraw treatment). Patients are responsible for keeping appointments and arriving on time. Patients are responsible for notifying Longship of demographic updates or changes in insurance status. Patients are responsible for being open and honest with Longship about health history, health changes, substance use, medications or changes, and over-the-counter vitamins/supplements or changes.

AUTHORIZATION TO RELEASE INFORMATION

Many patients let other individuals, such as family members, receive or request the patients' medical information (i.e. test results, imaging, billing information, etc.). Under HIPAA, Longship may not give non-emergent information to anyone without patient consent. If you wish other individuals to have access to your health information, please designate below.
