

Refund Policy: Divine Compass Life Coaching, LLC
URL: <http://divinecompasscoach.com>

The website listed above, hereinafter referred to as "Website" is operated by the following party:

Divine Compass Life Coaching, LLC, a limited liability company, organized under the laws of the state of North Carolina (hereinafter referred to as "Operator")

For any questions or comments regarding this Refund Policy, the Operator may be reached at the following contact points:

support@divinecompasscoach.com

Please be advised that for sales not at the seller's usual place of business, the federal "Cooling-Off" rule may apply. This rule gives customers the right to cancel a sale made at their home, workplace, or dorm that was under $25 or cancel a sale made at a seller's temporary location, like a fairground, motel, or convention center that was under $130. An attorney licensed in the relevant jurisdiction will be able to assist.

Refunds are permitted on the sale of services under the following conditions:

The customer is required to notify Divine Compass Life Coaching service of cancellations in no less than 24 hours prior to the scheduled session for consideration of a refund. Note: It is our pleasure to reschedule sessions due to any scheduling conflicts that may arise. Please contact your coach for assistance.

Refunds for coaching services are permitted in the event of an unavoidable emergency circumstance resulting in the cancellation of coaching sessions, which cannot be rescheduled for a later date. (a one-time event)

Refunds are issued at the Operator's discretion and may be accepted or rejected as such.