

The Uncivil Society "Forks and Spoons"

This project is the beginning of my journey as a recording and multi-media artist. I had just moved to Madison Wisconsin from California with my partner Pris-Illa and developed an acute case of culture shock. Having difficulty connecting with local musicians and not used to being forced to spend four to five months indoors I responded by purchasing a $30.00 Casio piano replete with cheesy drum machine, a 4-track recorder from a co-worker and "borrowed" a Shure Beta 58 from work. Coming from the Bay Area and being involved in alternative political and activist communities I was empowered to create. As my friend Chris Rankin one said, "the beauty of punk rock lies in giving you permission to strap a guitar on your shoulder get up on a stage and say what you jolly well want to say". Inspired by this spirit, I made my first recording. This cassette only release is a truly terrible first effort to written and record my own songs, but you gotta' start somewhere.
