

The Uncivil Society "Ego and My Own"

The Uncivil Society presents "Ego and My Own". Inspired by the writing of the philosopher Max Stirner who writes that all religions and societal institutions that claim authority over the individual, be it the state, legislation, the church, or the systems of education rest on empty concepts. This record loudly proclaims Stirner's ideas of liberating yourself and rising above social, political and ideological conditions, so each can walk their own way.

Gorilla X revises and retools this philosophy through channeling his inner Gil Scott Heron to rant like the Sleaford Mods over funky drum samples with a jazzy standup bass. Forged from a true DIY sprit, the recordings are tracked quickly, without regret or striving for any notion of achieving aural perfection.

Track List:

- 1) Spooks (In Your Mind)
- 2) Ego and My Own
- 3) Create Nothing
- 4) I am, I said
- 5) Liberate You
- 6) Things Create Regimes
- 7) A Union of A
- 8) No gods, no masters
- 9) My Flesh My Mind
- 10) The End Point of Language

"If I concern myself for myself, the unique one, then my concern rests on its transitory, mortal creator, who consumes himself, and I may say: All things are nothing to me."

— Max Stirner