Looking for a unique one-of-a-kind gift or presentation award for a special person or couple?

Call Me! Cartoonist Jerry M. Jenkins at 765-610-2541

Using photos & personal info - I develop ideas & themes for a 22"x 28" or bigger surface. Then draw, ink, color cartoons & caricatures that portray a subject(s) in positive and humorous settings.

Once finished, this one-of-a-kind "Personality Pictorial" is framed under glass or plexi-glass. A signing session on the back by well-wishers is done before or after its presentation.

Its unveiling offers:

For those who come a chance to "show & tell" of their contribution to its completion.

AND I
DO NOT WANT
WATCH!

Surprise reactions & personal recollections from the receiver(s) when they first see their persona portrayed so uniquely.

My pictorials hang around for years, prominently positioned, where they are viewed with remembrance of a special day.

Paul C. St. Pierre—Funeral Director
Henry A. Diedring, Jr.—Funeral Director
Reinhold Mueller—Funeral Director

As cremation has become more popular in recent years, some providers have learned to cut corners. Unfortunately, this has resulted in a surge of national scandals that has put doubt in the minds of families that choose cremation.

Brown-Butz-Diedring Funeral Service & Crematory is the only local funeral provider to offer a 10-step cremation process backed by our exclusive Cremation with Confidence™ guarantee. We own and operate our own crematory, which means your loved one never leaves our care. A member of our family is present for every cremation performed.

From the moment your loved one is entrusted in our care, through the cremation process, to the return of the cremated remains to you, your loved one is well cared for at all times.

If your choice is cremation, there is no other choice than Brown-Butz-Diedring Funeral Service & Crematory. Call us for more information about our Cremation with Confidence™ Guarantee.

The roller coaster 'Leap the Dips' at Mounds Park operated from 1907 to the 1920s. It was a wooden structure, painted white, and estimated to be 3 stories high. It reached speeds of 10 mph and riders could see the river below as they made one of the turns in the figure-eight track. Its sister coaster 'Leap the Dips' still operates in Lakemont Park, Altoona, PA.

Mounds State Park ~ Ancient Monuments ~

As the name suggests, Mounds State Park contains and preserves some of the finest examples of earthwork and mound building in Indiana. Built by the Adena, and later the Hopewell, the 10 earthworks within park boundaries range in size from a few inches tall to several feet high. These mounds were used primarily for ceremony, celebration, and observation of solstices, equinoxes and stellar events. Research indicates that these mounds were used to track the seasons and the positions of more than 50 different star constellations. The largest and best preserved of the park's mounds is the "Great Mound." Referred to as a "circular enclosure," this earthwork is the largest of its kind in the state and is nearly a quarter-mile in circumference.

Mounds State Park ~ Adena and Hopewell~

Among the first cultures that began making changes to the landscape in this area were the Adena, who dated to roughly 1,000 B.C.E., and were primarily a hunter/gatherer society. They left their mark by the construction of several mounds. A later culture, the Hopewell, used the earthworks until roughly 300 C.E., and for these cultures they used the earthen features mostly for astronomical observations and a time keeping device. Although much has been learned about the mounds and the people who built and used them, many questions remain unanswered. What eventually happened to the Adena and Hopewell people? Why did their cultures fade away? Although many theories abound, no one currently has answers.

Mounds State Park ~ Pioneering Spirit ~

In the early 19th century, a family of German immigrants, the Bronnenbergs, made this site their home. Owning more than 600 acres, they operated a large farm, with their fields and pastures located in the present-day picnic area.

One of the sons, Fredrick Bronnenberg Jr., built a two-story brick farmhouse that stands to this day. Constructed in the 1840s, virtually every bit of the house came from the surrounding woodlands - the foundation is limestone quarried from the nearby White River, the bricks were handmade on site, and most of the woodwork is Tulip tree.

The Bronnenberg Legacy

Frederick Bronnenberg Jr. recognized the uniqueness of the Mounds, and from the beginning, fought to protect them against looters and farm-plow destruction. He passed on his beliefs of stewardship to his children, who also guarded the mounds. Even when an amusement park and railroad shared the same ground, the mounds were preserved and touted as an attraction to behold. The conservation efforts of the Bronnenbergs helped make the mounds in this park some of the best remaining examples in the region. The Bronnenberg house is a reminder of their diligence.
