The itinerary:

We assemble at the meeting point in Portsmouth on a thursday, and board Brittany Ferries brand new cruise ship, the Galicia for our 33 hour crossing to Santander, arriving early morning on Saturday. From there we have all day to get to our first two day stop in Jaca, giving us the opportunity to explore the historic town of Pamplona on the way. On arrival In Jaca we settle into our hotel where we can enjoy a group meal, and explore the town. The following day is an opportunity to explore the area on your own, or join us in a spectacular rideout along a beautiful route, crossing the French border twice, with lunch in the market town of Laruns.

From Jaca, we then take a delightful run through the foothills of the pyrenees to Ainsa. Our hotel here will be our base for two days, while we relax in the beautiful hilltop town, or explore the stunning scenery of the Pyrenees. A meal will be provided on arrival at the hotel, and the following day is to rest, explore or join us in a rideout.

From Ainsa, we turn west, heading towards the Picos mountains, with an overnight stay in Logrono on the way. On entering the Picos National Park, we arrive in Potes for our next two night stay, A ride to the Fuente De cablecar is highly recommended, giving an opportunity to see the full splendour of the mountains.

From Potes we'll take a run over the mountain pass to Riano before heading north – west to the north Spanish coast, exploring beaches and fishing villages, with an overnight stop in the Gijon area, before arriving at our final hotel in Santillana Del Mar... known as the town of the three lies, as it's not holy (santi), flat (llana) or by the sea (del mar). A little town, with bright cobbled streets, flower-filled balconies and huddle of tanned stone and brick buildings.. This gives us a lie in and a short run to the ferry, with time to relax beforehand.

On arrival in Santander, we board the ferry for our overnight crossing, arriving in Plymouth mid afternoon on the following day.
