

A photograph of a large indoor event space, likely a gala or conference. The room is filled with people seated at round tables, many of whom are clapping. The stage is illuminated with warm lights, and a speaker is visible at a podium. Large screens on either side of the stage display the event's branding. The ceiling is decorated with draped fabric and string lights. A semi-transparent circular graphic is overlaid on the top right of the image, containing the event's title.
