DR. Joseph L. BANKS

Bishop Joseph L. Banks was called into the ministry in 1995 and appointed as Bishop in August 2019. He was ordained and licensed the following year. After working with youth groups, prison ministries, cell groups, and inner-city street ministries, Bishop Banks was led to quit his job of over 13 years at United Parcel Service (UPS), to pursue his heavenly vision and carry out the call which God had placed on his life. As an educator he has taught many years in the public and charter school sectors; and is currently still teaching/coaching/mentoring students in the Calcasieu Parish School System. Banks' years of dedication to community development led him to run for Mayor of Lake Charles, LA in the fall of 2017.

Due to the integrity of the race, he ran and his deep ties in the community, Bishop Banks currently serves on the Mayor's Advisory Board. Where he helps to bridge the gap between the faith community and government. A Southern University (Baton Rouge, LA) graduate in Secondary Education, and then a second bachelor's degree in Christian theology, as well as a master's degree in theology. In 2019 both he and his wife completed their Doctoral degrees in Divinity & Theology from Life Christian University in Lutz, FL (minutes from Tampa).

In 2001, he made a leap of faith by moving back to Lake Charles, LA, from Baton Rouge to found Living Word Christian Center. This ministry is a strong supporter of foreign missions as well as inner-city community development & enhancement. Then, in 2004, Bishop Banks led to make major strides in multiple arenas. He opened a fully accredited extension of Life Christian University in Lake Charles. The Word Ministerial Alliance (WMA) was launched shortly after his consecration to the office of Bishop to provide mentorship and covering to men and women of God who have discovered their calling to five-fold ministry with evidence of the power and gifts of God supporting their ministries.

Bishop Banks is overseeing churches in South Africa, Mexico, Ghana, Liberia (West Africa) and in the United States. He regularly travels throughout America and internationally to preach and teach the gospel, as a visionary who wants to bring about a positive change in and out of the local church. In addition to following the gospel's instructions on preaching and teaching.

Dr. Banks also believes in being an example of leaving an inheritance for one's children's children. He is a successful entrepreneur and owner of several self-sustaining businesses in the fields of commercial real estate leasing and multiple non-profits. He serves as an Executive Board member for the Alliance for Positive Growth. His most recent endeavor is establishing a church, an elementary through high school campus, and a business incubator in Monrovia, Liberia.

Bishop Banks has been married to the love of his life, Dr. Cathy S. Banks, for over 30 years. They have one son, Kirkland Joseph Banks, who received full athletic scholarships for both his bachelor's degrees and is currently a professional Baseball player.
