8 Dearly loved Friends,

9
10 Today at dawn, on your behalf, the members of the Universal House of Justice gathered with 11 the members of the International Teaching Centre in the Master's room at the house in Bahjí to 12 commemorate that pivotal moment when the first of the Tablets of the Divine Plan was 13 revealed by the pen of 'Abdu'l-Bahá. Prayers from those wondrous Tablets were offered in 14 thanksgiving for the glorious achievements of the past. Divine assistance was sought in support 15 of the labours required in the forthcoming stage of the Plan's unfoldment. And heavenly 16 bounties were implored to ensure still greater victories in meeting the challenges of future
17 stages, one after another, reaching as far as the fringes of the Golden Age.

18
19 The Divine Plan, that sublime series of letters addressed by 'Abdu'l-Bahá to the Bahá'ís of 20 North America between 26 March 1916 and 8 March 1917, constitutes one of the mighty
21 Charters of His Father's Faith.

22 Set forth in those fourteen Tablets, Shoghi Effendi explains, is "the mightiest 23 Plan ever generated through the creative power of the Most Great Name." It 24 is "impelled by forces beyond our power to predict or appraise" and "claims 25 as the theatre for its operation territories spread over five continents and the 26 islands of the seven seas." Within it are held "the seeds of the world's spiritual 27 revival and ultimate redemption."

28 In the Tablets of the Divine Plan 'Abdu'l-Bahá not only provided the broad vision necessary
29 to carry out the responsibilities entrusted by Bahá'u'lláh to His loved ones, but He also 30 outlined spiritual concepts and practical strategies necessary for success. In His exhortations

- 31
- 32 • to teach and
 - 33 • to travel to teach;
 - 34 • to arise personally or deputize others;
 - 35 • to move to all parts of the world and open countries and territories, each meticulously
 - 36 named;
 - 37 • to learn the relevant languages and translate and disseminate the Sacred Texts;
 - 38 • to train the teachers of the Faith and especially youth;
 - 39 • to teach the masses and, particularly, indigenous peoples;
 - 40 • to be firm in the Covenant and protect the Faith; and
 - to sow seeds and cultivate them in a process of organic growth,

41 we find hallmarks of the entire series of Plans—each a specific stage of the Divine Plan
42 shaped by the Head of the Faith—that will continue to unfold throughout the Formative Age.

43
44 The initial response to the Tablets of the Divine Plan was limited to the noble exploits of a 45 few who, like the immortal Martha Root, arose independently. It was Shoghi Effendi who 46 assisted the Bahá'ís of the world to gradually grasp the significance of this Charter and learn to 47 approach its requirements in a systematic manner. The Plan was held in abeyance for nearly 48 twenty years while the Administrative Order took shape, after which communities were 49 patiently guided to conduct national plans, including the two Seven Year Plans in North America
50 that constituted the first stages of the Divine Plan, until finally, in 1953, all could unite in the 51 first global Plan, the Ten Year Crusade. Shoghi Effendi looked beyond that crucial decade to 52 “the launching of world-wide enterprises destined to be embarked upon, in future epochs” of 53 the Formative Age, “by the Universal House of Justice, that will symbolize the unity and 54 coordinate and unify the activities of these National Assemblies.”

55
56 The Divine Plan continues at the present time with the intensive effort to establish a 57 pattern of community life that can embrace thousands upon thousands in clusters that cover
58 the face of the planet. Let every Bahá'í appreciate, more deeply than ever before, that the 59 provisions of the next stage of the Divine Plan set forth in our recent message to the 60 Counsellors' Conference comprise the challenging requirements of the present hour—
61 requirements both urgent and sacred, which, when sacrificially and persistently addressed, 62 may hasten “the advent of that Golden Age which must witness the proclamation of the Most 63 Great Peace and the unfoldment of that world civilization which is the offspring and primary 64 purpose of that Peace.”

65
66 How is it possible to adequately convey our feelings of irrepressible love and unbounded 67 admiration as we reflect on the exploits of the members of your communities, past and 68 present, in pursuit of your sacred mission? The vision that unfolds before our eyes is of a 69 grassroots stirring, an organic flowering, a resistless movement that has grown imperceptibly at 70 times and at others in great surges to eventually embrace the entire world:

- 71 • God-intoxicated lovers exceeding their personal capacities,
- 72 • embryonic institutions learning to exercise their powers for the well-being of 73 humanity,
- 74 • communities emerging as shelters and schools in which human potential is 75 nourished.

76
77 We pay homage to the humblest ministrations and ceaseless endeavours of the Faith's 78 devoted rank and file, as well as to the extraordinary accomplishments of its heroes, knights,
79 and martyrs. On vast continents and scattered islands, from arctic regions to desert climes, atop 80 mountain plateaus and across lowland plains, in crowded urban quarters and villages along 81 rivers and jungle paths, you and your spiritual forebears brought the message of the Blessed 82 Beauty to peoples and nations.

83

- 84 • You sacrificed rest and comfort and left your homes to journey to unfamiliar lands or 85 homefront outposts.
- 86 • You set aside your own interests for the common good. Whatever your means, you 87 sacrificially contributed your share of resources.
- 88 • You taught the Faith to multitudes, to groups in various settings, and to individuals 89 in your homes.
- 90 • You quickened souls and
- 91 ○ helped them on their own paths of service,
92 ○ disseminated widely the Bahá'í writings and 93 ○ participated in deep study of the teachings,
94 ○ strove for excellence in all fields,
95 ○ engaged diverse peoples of all strata in conversations pertaining to the 96 search for solutions to humanity's ills, and 97 ○ initiated efforts for economic and social development.

98
99 Though misunderstandings and problems sometimes arose,

- 100 • you forgave one another and marched together in serried lines.
- 101 • You raised the framework of the Administrative Order and clung steadfastly to the 102 Covenant, protecting the Faith from every blow directed against it.
- 103 • In your ardour for the Beloved, you endured prejudice and estrangement, privation 104 and loneliness, persecution and imprisonment.
- 105 • You welcomed and nurtured generations of children and youth upon whom the 106 vitality of the Faith and future of humanity depend,
- 107 • and as tested veterans, you heeded the Master's admonition to serve until your last 108 breath.
- 109 • You have written the story of the unfoldment of the Divine Plan on the scroll of its 110 first century.

111 Before you, beloved friends, lies stretched out the blank scroll of 112 the future on which you and your spiritual descendants will inscribe 113 fresh and lasting deeds of renunciation and heroism for the 114 betterment of the world.
