A More or Less Perfect Union

A More or Less Perfect Union explores the most contentious issues in American history and today through the lens of the U.S. Constitution. Our guide is Judge Douglas H. Ginsburg - a national authority on the Constitution, with 30 years of experience on the Federal Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C. Join us as conservative, progressive, and libertarian experts debate key issues of liberty.

FRIDAY'S IN OCTOBER 6:00 PM... 3 PART SERIES

Episode 1 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14

Why does having the rules for our government written down matter? Learn the history of the U.S. Constitution in the first episode of A More or Less Perfect Union - A Constitution in Writing.

Episode 2 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21

Our Constitution has changed over the more than 200 years since its creation. How did we create a "more perfect" union, or for that matter, a "more perfect" Constitution? Learn how the Constitution has changed over the years to become more inclusive in the second episode of A More or Less Perfect Union - A Constitution for All.

Episode 3 Saturday, OCTOBER 29

Are the people's constitutional rights at risk? Some think that's the case. Liberty is being chipped away at daily, and before you know it, it's gone. Explore how our liberty is slowly being lost and what threatens our Constitution in the third episode of A More or Less Perfect Union - Our Constitution at Risk.
