Prado Museum

Located central Madrid, Prado Museum, officially known as Museo Nacional del Prado, is the main national art museum of Spain. I was very fortunate to visit the Prado several months ago.

The Prado is one of the most visited sites in the world and considered one of the greatest art museums in the world. With the former Spanish royal collection as its base, it is widely considered to house one of the world's finest collections of European art dating from the 12th century to the early 20th century and the single best collection of Spanish art. Founded as a museum of paintings and sculpture in 1819, it also contains important collections of other types of works.

The numerous works by Francisco Goya, the single most extensively represented artist, as well as by Hieronymus Bosch, El Greco, Peter Paul Rubens, Titian, and Diego Velázquez, are some of the highlights of the collection. Velázquez and his keen eye and sensibility were also responsible for bringing much of the museum's fine collection of Italian masters to Spain, now one of the largest outside Italy.
