

Feeding Therapy

TLC offers a multidisciplinary program for the assessment and treatment of children with feeding difficulties. Evaluations and therapy are provided by speech-language pathologists and occupational therapists who are certified in the Sequential-Oral-Sensory (SOS) Approach. We work with a variety of needs and skill levels, from alternative feeding to oral feeding, sensory difficulties to oral motor delays, and picky eaters to those with limited food consumption; all while using sensory techniques and, of course, lots of fun! Although these sessions are often done individually and with parent participation, small groups are also sometimes available.
