About our schedule, please remember...

Be flexible.

The RACC is a small, all volunteer, organization and we are trying to bring you the best TREKFEST ever! But some times things happen that we just can't control. Times may shift or events change due to provider issues, product availability, weather, or other uncontrollable issues. There may also be slight time delays due to the limited number of volunteers needing to travel between events.

Please be patient with our staff and each other, and lets all have a great time.

Note to readers:

This schedule is subject to change as events require.
