Hello James!

Congratulations on your participation in the Lead Forward program, which aims to support Curium to equip its leaders to address a dynamic commercial environment and deliver the company's vision. As part of your participation in the program, ROC Business Psychologists, who are partnering with Curium for this process, would like to transmit your personal data to Curium, 12 rue Lord Byron 75008 Paris, France, and the Global Talent Management and HR team at Curium.

Therefore, we would like to ask for your consent to the processing of the data collected during this talent process, including interview data, multi-rater data, and outputs from the digital business simulations that you will complete. These will be captured in report formats that will be shared with Curium. In-depth reports from this process will be shared with you. You will be assisted with a coaching session to explore the data and identify your strengths and areas for development.

You can ask for questions to be rephrased, and you can also say – for example – “I don’t know. Move on”

After responding, you need to select Submit for it to be saved

You can use the ‘Undo’ button to replace your response before submitting

At the end of the review, you will see a summary of your feedback

You will be asked to prioritise the strengths and opportunities gathered from your input

You can also add to, remove or edit the summary statements before prioritising these
