Welcome to the Open House Playbook!

The first open house was held in 1910. Since then, real estate agents all over the world have continued to host them as a way to sell their listings and meet future buyers and sellers. According to the 2021 Home Buyers and Sellers Generational Sellers Report authored by the National Association of Realtors®, 53% of all home buyers sourced information about a property at an open house.

Due to the low cost, hosting an open house can provide you with one of the highest returns on investment compared to all real estate lead generation.

This playbook is designed to provide you with the model on how to run the most effective open house as well as walk you through the system step by step. Together we are about to create a very powerful open house event that will put you in a position to maximize your time and exposure for the listing you are holding open.

W Where Entrepreneurs Thrive

Open Houses Mythunderstandings

1. Buyers who come to open houses are not ready to buy.

Reality: Almost everyone who comes to an open house will transact. Some are NOW buyers, others could be your future business if you nurture that lead.

2. Everyone just looks at houses online so open houses are a waste of time.

Reality: According to NAR ® between 2021 and 2022, 41% of buyers reported using open houses as a source of information and 28% of buyers reported using open houses frequently to occasionally for information during their home search.

3. Buyers who come to open houses already have an agent.

Reality: On average buyers searched for homes for three weeks before contacting an agent. For some buyers, their first step in the home buying process is attending an open house not contacting an agent, which is your opportunity to become their agent.

4. Open houses only work if you do them on the weekend.

Reality: The right day and time for an open house can vary. An open house for a listing in a retirement community with a golf course may get better traffic on a weekday 4-6 hours after the first tee time than it will on a weekend. An evening open house during the week may be perfect in an area where many employers require weekend shifts. There is no one day or time that is universal for open houses, choose what is right for your market and the specific listing.

5. The main reason to have an open house is to sell that listing.

Reality: Open houses are a lead generation tool. Well-executed prospecting and marketing for an open house will bring in buyer leads and attract neighbors who become curious about selling.

Open Houses Mythunderstandings

6. Open houses only attract curiosity seekers and neighbors.

Reality: Open houses attract several groups of people:

- 1. First-time homebuyers who are trying to figure out what they are looking for in a home and/or neighborhood.
- 2. Other agents who want to see if a home meets the criteria of current clients
- 3. Neighbors who could become future listings when they see the possibility of selling their home at a similar price to the open house listing.
- 4. "Lookie-Loos" may feel like a waste of time, but remember most curiosity seekers eventually transact real estate with some agent and that agent could be you.

7. I'm only doing lead generation on weekends if I spend my time hosting open houses.

Reality: A successful prospecting and marketing strategy for an open house begins well before the weekend and, done right, is lead generation for your business generally, not just for the specific listing.

8. I don't need to do an open house if I do a broker open OR I don't need to do a broker open if I do a public open house.

Reality: Hold a broker open before your public open house to help limit the number of agents attending your public open house so you can focus your attention during the public open house on potential buyers while also getting the word out about your listing to agents who have clients actively looking to buy.

Open Houses

Step 1. Pick the Right House

- 1. Hold Open Your Own Listings
- 2. New-to-Market Homes

- 4. Mid-Range-Priced Homes

Step 2. Create Marketing Materials

- 1. Flyers
- 2. Registration Sheet
- 3. Score Cards

Step 3. Market the Open House

- 1. Invite your Database
- 2. Invite the Neighbors
- 3. Post to Social Media

Step 4. Get Ready to Host

- 1. Set Out Signs
- 2. Arrive Early

Step 5. Follow Up

1. Follow Up Tips

1. Pick the Right House

Although any listing can be held open, choosing a property that puts you in the best position to meet the most motivated buyers is a great first step. Below are some filters that you can use to put yourself in the right place, at the right time, more often.

- Hold Open Your Own Listings

Many sellers love the idea of having an open house. There is no one better to speak about the home to a prospective buyer than the listing agent. This will help you best position the property as you will be the first to receive feedback. This is also an opportunity to meet prospective buyers that can become future clients and hopefully sell your listing!

Don't have your own listings? Reach out to agents in your Market Center about hosting an open house at one of their listings.

New-to-Market Homes

Look for properties that have been on the market 0-14 days. Many homes will have their highest per-day traffic during their first few weeks on the market. This is largely because in every price range there is a segment of buyers that have seen all of the available inventory and are eager to see new listings quickly.

Low-Inventory Neighborhoods

These are neighborhoods that do not have a lot of homes for sale. Due to the low inventory, buyers are more likely to want to see homes in those neighborhoods as soon as they are listed. You can use your MLS to search neighborhoods that have lower-than-average inventory.

Mid-Range-Priced Homes

Mid-range-priced homes have the most people looking at them. Since they are affordable to most, they are often more desirable. You can use the MLS to identify and search for average-priced homes.

Choose the Best Day and Time

Best practices for Open houses are:

- 1. Monday-Friday 5-7PM this allows you to catch people coming home from work.
- 2. Saturday-Sunday 11-1PM and/or 2-4PM there are benefits to morning or afternoon times.

Optimize the weekends and host multiple open houses to capture the most buyers! You can hold the same listing open multiple times or hold multiple listings open one time.

You will want to have your ideal listing picked by Monday or Tuesday.

There are a few staples to every successful open house. The first is eye-catching and informational flyers that people can take with them. The second is a digital or paper registration sheet where you can capture the attendees' contact information. Lastly, score cards to collect feedback.

Flyers -

There are two purposes to flyers. The first is to use them when inviting people to your open house and the second is to have them at the open house so people can take them with them.

Every flyer should contain the following information:

- 1. Photos of the home
- 2. Key details about the home and neighborhood
- 3. Your contact information
- 4. Your preferred lender's contact information
- 5. A call-to-action

A call-to-action could be something like "Ask Me About My Price Reduction List" or "Ask Me About Below Market Financing" or "Get the Value of My Current Home". These entice attendees to keep in conversation with you.

Having your preferred lender's contact information on your flyer allows you to use it when talking to a potential buyer that hasn't been pre-approved yet. You're immediately showing value and the buyer is more likely to keep the flyer... that also has your contact information on it!

Registration Sheet-

Capturing contact information is vital to a successful open house because without it there isn't anyone to follow up with. This may include their name, email, phone number, and Buyer's Wish List. This way you can easily set them up on a follow up plan. Not everyone will be "now" buyers, but that's why the follow up is always the most important piece to lead generation. You can capture their information in two ways:

- 1. Paper Registration Sheet: This is simply a sheet of paper that people sign-in on. Contacts will be manually entered into your database.
- 2. Digital Landing Page: By building a custom landing page in Command, contacts are automatically added to your database when they sign in. This allows for easy follow up.

It's advised to obtain consent from each attendee to contact them, using language such as:

I would like _____ [agent/market center] to contact me about property listings and real estate offers and services at the telephone number and email address I provided, including communications using automated telephone dialling equipment, text messages, emails and/or artificial or pre-recorded voice messages.

Score Cards -

Score Cards are a fun and unique way to engage guests at an open house. When you do this right, you will have captured contact information and feedback in one place.

You can collect feedback on the house by creating a simple rating system or asking questions:

- 1. What do you think about the price? Too low, too high, just right?
- 2. Rate the location 1-5
- 3. Rate the curb appeal 1-5
- 4. What were your favorite features?

Now that you have the materials you need, you can start marketing the open house to generate traffic!

Marketing materials should be created by the end of day Wednesday so you can start marketing the Open house.

The key to a successful open house is generating as much traffic as possible. Marketing the open house a few days before the event allows you to notify people in advance to mark their calendars!

- Invite Your Database -

Inviting your database allows you to touch your database and provide them value at the same time. You should invite first via email. When you send them the flyer you've created, you're showing buyers a property they could be interested in and sellers the value you provide to listings. The following day you can call or text your database about the open house. This is a great opportunity to have a conversation with your database and check in.

Invite the Neighbors -

Door knock and circle prospect the neighborhood a day or two before the open house. The purpose is to invite neighbors to come 30 minutes early for a sneak peak of the home you are holding open. Inviting the neighbors allows them to satisfy their curiosity and also provides them the opportunity to think about selling their own house. When they visit, you can offer to provide them information about their house that would allow you to enter them into your database. This is a great time to ask for a referral!

- 1. Door knock the nearest 20 homes (10 one side of the street and 10 on the other side).
- 2. Circle prospect the neighborhood or immediate area.

CONVERSATION - Door Knocking and Circle Prospecting

Hi! My name is _____ with Keller Williams Realty (Market Center or team name), I am holding the property at 123 Main Street open on Sunday from 2-4. I wanted to invite all of the neighbors to come take a peek. Will you be around to stop by?

YES

Awesome, I hope to meet you then. We would love for you to give us some feedback after you check it out. Do you have anyone that you know that might love to be your neighbor? If yes...get the referral.

NO

That's okay...there is still time (make a joke). While I have you ("'on the phone" if calling), would you like me to get an updated market report on your home?

If yes...get details ... ask if motivated to move, etc. Offer to drop off CMA to verify on the way to or from the open house.

Post to Social Media

Posting to social media is another easy way to ensure you get the most traffic possible to your open house. This also makes you more visible to your friends and family as their real estate agent of choice. Easily use Designs in Command to create a graphic to advertise the open house.

Include the following:

- 1. Day(s) and time(s)
- 2. Address
- 3. Key details of the home (square footage, # of bedrooms and bathrooms, any unique features)
- 4. A call-to-action

A call-to-action here might be something like "Click to Get a Sneak Peak" where it takes them to a quick video tour of the property.

Another way to generate traffic on social media is to use the same graphic you created to post an ad on Facebook or Instagram. This will allow you to reach buyers that don't follow you and capture information of new potential buyers.

Pro Tip: Use your vendor partners, like a Title Company, to help get a list of the neighbors to call and target on Social Media.

You should start marketing the open house on Thursday.

📩 - info@gunnrealestate.com @ Austin, Texas

You created all the materials you need and invited everyone you can. Now it's time to host an amazing event.

- Set Out Signs -

This is important!

Signage is the last key step to getting as much traffic as possible to your open house.

- 1. It's suggested to put out 20-40 signs per open house.
- 2. Put signs at all directional stops, major intersections, entrances to the neighborhood, and several throughout the neighborhood. You want to capture as many people driving by as possible. Don't forget to put a sign in the front yard so people know which house you're holding open!
- 3. Start the night before. If you have an open house early in the morning, putting signs out the night before will maximize the amount of people seeing signs before the morning.

*Follow all local solicitation and sign ordinances, as well as all local ordinances, Homeowner Association Rules, or similar when door knocking.

Arrive Early-

If you've invited the neighbors for a sneak-peek preview, you should be there early to greet them. This is a great opportunity to talk with neighbors one-on-one about the neighborhood traffic, the market, and ask for a referral. You can mention the Monthly Neighborhood Nurtures and ask if this is something they'd be interested in receiving from you.

Before the open house starts you can take 1-2 quick videos of the neighborhood or key features of the house to post on social media. This is just another marketing push for visitors!

Host —

This is it! People are coming in and out, you're introducing yourself and asking them to sign in, and you're having conversations about the details of the home. Your hard work is paying off.

CONVERSATION - Introduction

Hi there, welcome to 123 Main Street. What brings you by today?

l'm just looking.

We typically find that people come to open houses either to look for a home of their own or find the value of their house. Do you live near here?

Like all lead generation in real estate, the money is in the follow up! Following up with people that attend gets you one step closer to an appointment.

- Follow Up Tips -

- 1. If attendees were not automatically added to your database through your registration sheet, add them and make notes on which open house they attended.
- 2. Contact everyone that attended the open house as soon as possible. This is your opportunity to note the neighbors, the looky-loos, and the interested buyers to determine what follow up plans you should use.
- 3. The following Monday, call the same people you called when you were circle prospecting the neighborhood before the open house to provide feedback, offer a market analysis, and ask for a referral.
- 4. Add follow up plans to every new contact.
