Northeastern State University president: Broken Arrow campus poised for future growth

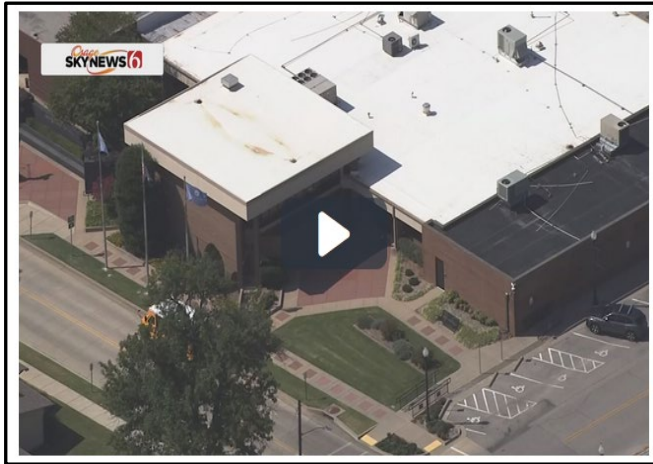

Did you know?

In a recent asset listing dated 7/9/2025, the Wagoner County Sheriff Office includes a Thompson Sub Machine Gun. The cost shown is $80,000. Question for taxpayers – should that asset be sold to apply to the $13 Million jail death settlement?

Broken Arrow approves $1.35M deal for new municipal services building

City leaders say the current city hall is outdated and too small for the city's needs.

Broken Arrow City Council gives unanimous approval for new municipal services building

Broken Arrow is moving ahead with plans for a new municipal services building after approving a multimillion-dollar design agreement with an architectural firm. City Hall, now 50 years old, no longer meets the city's needs. Officials say the city has outgrown the building's capacity as Broken Arrow has expanded in both size and services. The agreement with Narrate Design totals $1,359,574, bringing the overall project cost to $1,534,074. Funding will come from the city's Sales Tax Capital Improvement Fund, which supports major infrastructure and public facility projects. Once the design and construction documents are finalized, city leaders are expected to release more details on the design, costs, and a timeline for construction.
