Mental Health and Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND)

This is a one day course which is delivered online by live experienced trainers and school leaders.

The course covers:

- Mental health as a disability
- Understand the current legislation, guidance and context relating to disability and mental health.
- Understand how children with SEND are more susceptible to mental ill health
- Understand the signs and indicators of mental ill health presented by children with disabilities and how these may be different to those presented by children without disabilities
- Know how to respond appropriately if you have a mental health concern about a child with disabilities and what to do if you need to talk to the child or family
- Understand ways to work in partnership with parents of children with mental ill health
- Signposting for SEND children struggling with their mental health and for their families

All our courses can be delivered to larger cohorts face-to-face or online
