

INTRODUCING ESSE SKINCARE

We are SO excited to announce that ESSE Skincare has officially launched at Wilde Beauty.

This line has been one of the most anticipated releases in the studio — and for good reason.

My ESSE Story – Why I Chose to Bring It Into Wilde Beauty

For years, my skin was always dry, sensitive, and easily irritated. No matter what I tried, I couldn't seem to find anything that felt soothing or gentle enough for my skin — everything was either too heavy, too scented, or left me feeling even more uncomfortable.

I eventually decided to try ESSE after hearing so many people talk about how restorative and calming it was for sensitive, and reactive skin. I loved that it was simple, skin barrier-focused, and didn't rely on harsh ingredients, preservatives or fragrances.

What surprised me most was how comfortable my skin felt. The textures were light and non-invasive, nothing burned around my eyes, and everything felt hydrating without being greasy. It was the first time in a long time that my skin didn't feel tight or look like sandpaper by midday.

I slowly found a few favourites — a cleanser that felt silky and gentle, a hydrating live probiotic mist that kept my skin calm throughout the day, a lightweight protect oil that didn't clog my pores, and a moisturizer that truly felt like butter.

That's when I knew: This was something I wanted to bring into Wilde Beauty.

Not because it's trendy — but because it genuinely helped my sensitive skin feel like itself again.

If your skin is dry, red, irritated, reactive, or just tired of the "try everything" cycle... I think you might really love ESSE too.

And... for those who love a good mystery, you may have picked up on a few hints about our newest 2026 service...

We'll be sharing the full announcement in February!
