

Khaya Mahogany Quarter Sliced Veneer

Species Color & Tone: Khaya Mahogany Quarter Sliced Veneer ranges from pale pink to red brown and deepens toward a classic mahogany color as it ages. The overall tone is warm and stately but more accessible in cost than many traditional mahoganies, which makes it practical for large wall and ceiling areas. It provides a familiar “mahogany feel” in hospital-ity, institutional, and civic work.

Grain & Appearance: Quartered Khaya typically shows straight to slightly interlocked grain with fine stripes or roe figure. A medium to coarse texture and natural luster give panels a refined glow under lighting, supporting formal lobbies, reception zones, and warm public interiors.
