Our Mission

Our Mission is to develop and create strategic solutions with a high Return-on-Investment (ROI) for our clients.

Our Promise

Our Promise is Integrity. At McAleese we know that without integrity, our work would have no substance. Since our founding in 1992, our team has adhered to a strict code of ethics that leaves nothing to chance, upholding our model of excellence in all dealings.

Andrea Comes

CFO, Director of Research & Principal, McAleese and Associates, P.C.

Ms. Comes has been working in the Defense industry for over 25 years. She currently serves as the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Director of Research for McAleese and Associates, ensuring all financial compliance, strategy, and processes for the firm.

Additionally, as the Director of Research, she assists with the financial analysis and research necessary to produce "The McAleese Analysis". The McAleese Analysis provides an intimate analysis of the Department's top decision makers' priorities, all budgets, hot issues, and programmatic trade-offs combined with key industry financial analysis.

As well as managing the McAleese team, Ms. Comes is an essential force in monitoring the resourcing and program priorities of the various Military Services and Defense Agencies to analyze and forecast broader industry trends, as well as monitoring the budgeting trade-offs on Capitol Hill.

Ms. Comes earned her B.A. at Dickinson College and her M.S. from the University of Maryland.
