Today I celebrate life, the ability to love myself, the ability to connect with the ones I love and the ability to dream. Throughout this journey there has been many ups and downs but I have gained the confidence to persevere and the motivation to create a new path whenever an obstacle in the way. I have found my peace.

For anyone looking to achieve this same goal my advice is seek connection, learn to create boundaries but not walls, find positive support, instill passion, never dismiss any door of opportunity, find excitement in challenge and last but not least patience. "
