President's Letter

It's a New Year for the BSCBAA

On behalf of the Boykin Spaniel Club and Breeders Association of America, the AKC Parent Club for Boykin Spaniels, I would like to thank the outgoing board members, class of 2024, Jackie DeAngelo, Jeff Engelmann, Michael Herrera, Pete Rawls and past president, Anne Ledet, for all their hard work and service to the club. I was elected President by the Board of Directors on March 4, 2024. The Board also elected officers, Vice President: Lisa Watkins, Secretary: Roslin Copeland and Treasurer: Kathleen Yeaman. During the Annual meeting, we confirmed and welcomed five new Board Members: Becky Burns, Rachel Frey Hawkins, Chelsey Lancaster, Liz Nugent-Hefner and Micah Smith. We anticipate that the BSCBAA will have a great upcoming year. It began with the Annual meeting where the status of the club was presented, and its many accomplishments were discussed. We wish to thank all the Committee Chairs for their work throughout the year and submission of annual reports, and those that were able to attend. If you missed it, view slide presentation at our website.

The 2nd BSCBAA National Specialty in Perry, GA was a great success! Thank you to the exceptional work of the 2024 National Specialty Committee Team Members that made it possible. It was an outstanding and large number of Boykin Spaniels on display as ambassadors representing the breed in the conformation ring and various performance events. It was a pleasure to meet many of our BSCBAA members from various parts of the country. See page 8-14 for all the winners and success.

The Board of Directors and BSCBAA Committee Members are currently in the process of planning for the upcoming year. Included in this newsletter, you will find information about some of the events the BSCBAA is planning. We urge you to participate and get involved. There are many opportunities for you to join committees and/or sub-committees (see current list of committees and chairs on our website) or simply participate in future events. Some of those events include the upcoming photo contest which will in turn be used to produce a calendar as a fund raiser for the club, fall Hunt Test in Georgia, membership drive & fall festival fundraiser in Texas. Plans are also in works for 3rd Annual National Specialty, clay shooting, field training, informative Health & Genetic Zoom Meetings, and various work on different committees, establishing the club's Best Practices & Standing Rules Policies and continued work on obtaining full AKC membership.

Please notice this new heartfelt program designed by our Communication Committee with the idea being formed through a recent loss of a Club Member's Boykin Spaniel, Our Memoriam Webpage. Full details of this program follow on the next page.

All pertinent committee and club news will follow throughout this newsletter.

Dogs Overheating: Signs, Symptoms, & Prevention

Article from AKC & AKC Canine Health Foundation

Why Dogs Overheat

Exercise, excitement, or infection can cause a dog's temperature to rise normally. But when a dog's body temperature rises only a few degrees over 102 degrees Fahrenheit, a dog becomes overheated, and it's important to take action before heat exhaustion occurs. When humans sweat, heat is transferred from the moisture over our entire body to drier, cooler air around it. Evaporation of this sweat cools us, and a fan makes it happen faster. However, Jan Grebe, Ph.D., notes, "Dogs don't sweat." At least, not how we experience sweating. Dogs pant because they have few sweat glands. Dogs inhale cooler, drier air through the nose and upper airways, exchanging that in the lungs for warm, moist air as evaporative cooling takes place (the dog's equivalent of our sweating mechanism). The breathing rate increases from 40 to 400 breaths per minute, with an occasional deep breath. After the dog sucks cooler air into the lungs, they exhale hot, moist air through the mouth over the dripping tongue, expelling excess body heat. Panting animals, then, need enough cool water to drink on warm days to keep those airways moist, maintaining a delicate temperature balance. But if the outside environment is also very moist, less evaporation and cooling occur. This may result in a reduced tolerance for hot, humid weather and a greater danger of the dog overheating. Potentially serious if left untreated, dehydration and overheating can be prevented by recognizing early warning signs. While field dogs are especially vulnerable, these conditions can impact all dogs.

Signs of Overheated Dogs

As a dog's temperature rises, blood rushes to the surfaces of the tongue, gums, and membranes to help transfer excess heat. Clear warning signs of overheating in dogs include frantic panting, extreme salivation, bright-red membranes, and labored breathing. The condition may quickly progress to a metabolic meltdown as their temperature rises to over 106 degrees Fahrenheit and dogs can no longer cool themselves.

An overheated dog may gasp for air, and the entire mouth will become grayish to purple because of the unmet oxygen demand. As the dog becomes dehydrated, their saliva thickens, and the dog may vomit and have diarrhea. Unable to stand, the dog might even have a seizure, become comatose, and die. Even if you can cool down the dog and they're acting normally, rush them to an emergency clinic because their organs may have already been damaged and death could follow.

Why Some Dogs Overheat More Easily

Keep a close eye on double-coated dogs when summer temperatures rise, when traveling, or when there's an unusual heat wave in your area. Although a dog's coat can provide insulation from both heat and cold, double coats can make a dog more vulnerable to overheating. Black and other dark-colored coats also absorb heat faster in the sun. All dogs are vulnerable to heatstroke, and every owner needs to be acutely aware of their dogs' limits. Also, even dogs accustomed to exercise may overheat easily when exercising on hot days. Since field dogs are unlikely to stop hunting or retrieving when they become dangerously hot, owners should watch their dog closely for overheating signs.

Chronic respiratory challenges also tend to cause irritation with more salivation and swelling in the throat. This further restricts air movement as passages narrow. Eventually, the respiratory system loses elasticity with repeated challenges, and with an increased effort to breathe, the walls of the airway may be drawn inward. Over time, the increased effort to breathe causes a progressive inward collapse of the walls of the larynx, which may be fatal.

How to Keep Your Dog From Overheating

Forsyth brings cool packs for dogs, dog towels, ice, and spray bottles with her Pekingese in any weather. "You never know when it can become too warm," she warns. She suggests show superintendents hold classes for brachycephalic dogs in the morning and advises people to bring helpers when showing multiple dogs to watch over them.

If you think your dog is overheating, you quickly move them to a cool place and immediately spray cool (not cold or icy) water on the coat, ensuring it reaches the skin. Cold water tends to constrict the surface blood vessels in the skin and this reduces, instead of increases, heat loss. Here are other ways to help prevent overheating in dogs:

- Ensure that your dog always has plenty of fresh water and shade, putting them outside only for short periods in hot weather.
- Use a variety of dog cooling products, such as dog cooling vests and wraps, dog cooling mats, and cooling beds for dogs.
- Don't leave your dog in the car in any weather, whether or not the windows are cracked. Even on a cool day (the mid-60s), the temperature in a closed car rises to 130 degrees Fahrenheit in minutes. The dog's own body temperature increases the heat and moisture (especially for larger breeds), using up oxygen, and death can occur within 15 minutes.
- Get your dog used to hot weather gradually. Don't exercise them on hot, humid days. Even sporting/field dogs can overheat if the water is warm.
- Make sure to keep your home cool on warm days. Install a temperature alarm in your motor home, van, and house that contacts your cell phone automatically. If air conditioners and electricity fail and owners aren't aware, dogs may be in danger.
- Don't place crated dogs under tents or in places that have poor or inadequate ventilation or warm, stagnant air.
- Carefully observe elderly dogs, those that are chronically ill, or pets that have trouble breathing.
- Be careful whenever you're using dog dryers, especially cage dryers.
- Contact your veterinarian and your breed club and ask about heat sensitivity in your breed.
- Use an electric fan to draw heat from the blood at the body surface. You can also fan an overheated dog yourself if an electric fan is unavailable.

Observe your dog carefully, and if you notice symptoms of overheating, don't wait until it's too late. Take precautions to prevent overheating and know when it's time to take immediate action.

REMEMBERING CAMI

Article written by Greg & Michelle Copeland

CAMI

Texas Trace Camilla 2010-2024

Cami passed comfortably March 6, 2024, at 14 years of age. While she hunted with us in November 2023 at 13+ years of age, the last few months she had been suffering from COPD and it was time to let her go. We are saddened. It is difficult to lose a loved one and difficult to express how much they mean to you. Following is Michelle's tribute to her great companion for so many years and the wonderful memories she leaves.

I am so grateful to have had years of companionship with Cami. She wasn't big and powerful. She wasn't an alpha. She wasn't beautiful or regal. She was a friend - to everyone, human and dog alike.

Cami demonstrated her ability to get along in her way of hunting. She would find the bird and POINT, patiently waiting for a human or other dog to join her. Then on command she would flush the bird and go find it where she would again wait for a more assertive dog to do the hard work of carrying it back. Then she would happily trot off to do it again. Even in her advanced years she would play with other dogs, though she was happiest wherever her humans were. She spent hours with me dozing in the chair in my home office during long work-from-home days and was a wonderful snuggler on the couch.

I will miss my friend.

Michelle Copeland

"Animals share with us the privilege of having a soul".

This was Cami's prayer when we laid her to rest:

"Come in haste to assist her, you Saints of God.
Come in haste to meet her, you Angels of the Lord.
Enfold in your arms this Soul, And take your burden Heavenwards
To the sight of the Most High."

2024

The BSCBAA AKG National Specialty in Perry, Georgia was an amazing week for Boykin Spaniels and all those who love them. The 2nd BSCBAA Nationals is in the history books with a record number of Boykins entered in the conformation Breed Competition, Sweepstakes, and Junior Showmanship. We had many entries in performance events (agility, barn hunt, dock diving, CAT, Fast Cat, Obedience & Rally). Also, there was an outstanding exhibit of Boykins at the Breeders Showcase. All week beginning April 10, 2024 with the Peach Blossom Cluster was a wonderful opportunity to meet, compete, learn, and cheer on all the participating Boykins, their owners, breeders, and handlers. Thank you for the collective work of the 2024 National Specialty Committee Team Members that made it possible. Even more essential to our success of this project was the generous sponsorship of our members through funds and volunteer time and service. BSCBAA TAIL DOCKING FORMULA & PROCEDURE

Established in 2013 by BSCBAA

Leave 1/3 of the tail plus 1/4 inch; please use a ruler.

Dock tail between 3-5 days of age—3 days is preferred.

There is consistently a natural indentation where the tail should be docked. If the measurement falls between joints, look and feel for the one where there is a natural indentation. REMEMBERING—Longer is preferred.

Best practices done by vet with breeder attending & overseeing.
