

APRIL IS CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

No one wants to think or talk about it and it can be hard to even imagine. Yet, 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys experience sexual abuse before they reach the age of 18. Most of it occurs within a child's "safe world" of home, school, and approved activities. It most often involves people that the child knows and trusts. This is NOT OKAY and it's why when a child discloses sexual abuse to you it's important to believe them and seek help and here's why:

The impacts are huge:

•Psychological

Clinical disorders such as depression, anxiety, dissociation, post-traumatic stress, bipolar, attention deficit/hyperactivity, anorexia, insomnia, as well as various kinds of harmful acting out behaviors, etc.

•Physical

Severe injuries, infections, neurological damage, and in some cases death

•Social / Emotional

Inability to trust, social anxiety and phobias, intimacy issues, poor self-esteem, etc.

•Spiritual

A faith crisis – where was a loving, all-powerful God when I was abused? An inability to develop a loving and trusting relationships with God and with others

Jesus showed us in his life how much he loved children; we follow him by loving and protecting children from the harm of abuse. (See Matt. 18:1-14, Mark 9:33-36, 42) To sexually harm a child is a tragic abuse of power. To hold power, and not use it to protect children is also an abuse of power.

God hears their cries. Do we?
