

METROPOLIS LIVE

CELL BANK Patch 5.09

S.M.C : 2032, Sol 2nd

.00046 % LIVE

DIABLO COUNTY POWER-LOSE

Live @ 3:54 p.m., 2032, Sol 2, Angel Garrison's experimental biological power grid collapsed, causing a treacherous viral gas leak. The defunct Biological Turbine, created by Surge, Wylde and Team, provided sustainable power to millions of citizens and operating centres in the Diablo County and Death Valley. Instead of generating power, the gaseous byproduct of the Deep Drive Turbine is spewing an infectious gas across the entire Angel Garrison campus.

This disaster comes at the worst possible time. Today is Angel Garrison's worldwide release party for the highly anticipated and revolutionary Cell Bank. Several sources report all the high-profile guests and infamous broadcasters were present during this outbreak.

Live satellite images, taken by the Crown Corporation's low orbiting Sky Grid, show a growing gargantuan viral cloud covering the Angel Garrison campus. The gas is not spreading into the desert at the moment, as a ring of mountains surrounds the main campus. But part of the gas cloud is dissipating into the ocean via the compound's private harbour.

Campus communications are also down. It is not clear if Angel Garrison employees or the several thousand guests are alive. By a lucky coincidence, response units and security squads are already in place. Today, response units were monitoring the meteor that slammed into the ocean not far from the Angel compound. They are joining forces with Crown security and are containing the leak as you read this.

If you are an Angel Garrison employee, do not try and return to the campus. If you are in the surrounding desert area, have an Enforcer test for the viral gas's side effects. The Crown and Enforcers recommend remaining calm and switching to alternate power sources or sharing power, if possible.

Leo, the CEO of Angel Garrison, is not available for comment, nor are power engineers Surge, Team or Wylde, the inventors of the defunct Deep Drive Turbine. Being the first and only significant blow to Angel Garrison's perfect reputation hasn't stopped their stock prices from collapsing. It is unknown if the company can recover.

Updates as story unfolds →