Annual Arizona Awards Ceremony

Background of the National Organization

The Franklin D. Watkins Memorial Trophy Award (Watkins Award) was initiated in 1993 to promote academic excellence amongst African-American high school student-athletes. It is named after the deceased co-founder of The Alliance, Franklin Watkins. The Watkins Award recognizes exceptionally talented African-American male athletes who, by their example, help promote high academic standards and a commitment to community service.

Premier African-American high school student-athletes seniors from all over the United States are nominated for the award during the fall of each year. Finalists are chosen based on the following criteria: Unweighted GPA (must be 3.0 or above), Personal Statement, Extra-Curricular Activities, Community Service, and Letters of Recommendation. All qualifiers will be recognized at our 3rd annual awards banquet that will take place in the winter/spring.

The National Alliance of African American Athletes (The Alliance) is a 501 (c)3 founded in 1989 with the purpose to mentor African-American student-athletes through college preparation, developing leadership skills and recognizing community service as well as academic and athletic excellence.

Why Focus on African American Males in High School

Available data consistently show that African-American males in the 18 to 26 age bracket are far more likely to be involved at some level with the criminal justice system rather than higher education. In July, 2000 the National Urban League reported, for example, that while African-American female PhD's increased by 111%, African-American male PhD's actually decreased by 2%. These consistent trends are reasons enough to focus attention on the development of African-American males while they are still in a high school setting. While there have been all-out efforts to recruit collegiate sports stars, there has been little focus on developing opportunities at the high school level to motivate African-American males to seriously pursue higher education. The Phoenix Chapter recognizes the expressed value of education in the pursuit of athletic goals and serves to encourage young men to pursue this balance of success.
