

Livefireone started in 2006 beginning with merit badge certifications for scouts. My business partner and myself began to see a need for certified NRA instructors for BSA it was mandatory to have a certified instructor and Range safety officer. We worked hard and did many classes using junior high schools and high schools for our classrooms! The merit badge was for shotgun so you can imagine bringing all the different shotgun actions into a school! Well this is Utah right! We soon became well known for our attention for safety, and adults began to ask if we could teach them pistol and rifle shooting. My experience in the Marine corps from 1974-1980, receiving many shooting awards for expert rifle and high shooter and pistol helped I also began shooting with the NRA at age 10 and earned myself distinguished expert with small bore rifle.

My business partner at the Time (no longer with us) but still good friends, is Army reserve, and range NCO also Saratoga police range chief, SWAT and K-9 he is a good man and a real good shooter.

My credentials include BCI certification as a Utah instructor for CCW training # I101518 And certified with NRA for pistol, rifle, shotgun, personal protection in the home and chief range safety officer.

I was born in Springfield Massachusetts in 1956 moved to new London Connecticut then joined the marines at age 17. I moved to Utah and was honorably discharged in 1980. I have a wonderful and supporting wife Dianne, we have been married 25 years 3 great Kids one in the Navy.

I am now retired on disability for having bad lungs; I was a Diagnostic Master technician at Brent Brown Toyota
