

A SPECIAL UPDATE

January 18, 2019

Two days ago, we submitted Matchino version 1.000 to the Google Play Store and the App Store. Today, we're pleased to announce that after some delay, Google has listed Matchino as available for public download on the Play Store.

Meanwhile, while we wait for Apple's engineering team to complete their review, we have taken the time to correct newly found bugs. We will be submitting a new update very soon with those changes to improve your user experience. As soon as we receive word from Apple (that we've been cleared for the App Store), we will be making that announcement on our website.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank the members of my development team for their hard work and personal entrepreneurship during this project and extend a deep and heartfelt thank you to our beta testers. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Sam Azzarano
Studio Director