

A Meander through Memory
by Larry Jenkinson (2008)

Cost - $20.00 each plus postage

"This is not intended as a book of history; research has been minimal. I have been largely dependent on memory, and Memory, as we all know only too well, can be a fickle mistress so I will accept correction on such details as dates and names if such is forthcoming. I offer no words of wisdom or priceless pearl of philosophy which might uplift and sustain through the years ahead, you must seek wiser counsel than mine for that, but if you derive one half of the enjoyment from reading it as I derived from writing it I will be well satisfied." The Author.
