About Us

We are a small farm family in rural Kentucky. Our cow-calf operation bears the majority of our focus, while we are also working to build small herds of goats. Chickens, guardian dogs and cats round out the cast of characters.

Family members, living on and off the farm, frequent our activities and days. Six generations of us have been farming in Kentucky since a Revolutionary War Land Grant carried us into the Commonwealth.

We share daily activities from our farm and home. Activities include gardening, livestock management, seeding pastures, and recipes from our kitchens.
