Requests

All prerecording sessions are audio only.

Use the calendar below to schedule your podcast prerecording. You will automatically get an email notification with the Google Meet instructions, and then a preparation email from amysbookshelfreviews@gmail.com (You don't need a Gmail address to be able to use Google Meet). Using this, you will get an invite on Google automatically, and be reminded 24 hours and an hour before the meeting, if using this request.

Zoom or Google Voice Requests

Zoom is another prerecording option for audio use on your computer or smartphone.

Google Voice is a direct phone number that you can call, and then the call will be recorded. This is for people who prefer talking over the phone to being on a video call.

For a booking request for these options, email amysbookshelfreviews@gmail.com and put "Podcast /Zoom" or "Podcast / Google Voice" in the subject line.

Email Address:

Name (First and Last)

Book Title only on the show (Amy talks about your book on the show, and you do not appear in this episode. Use for authors who are publicity shy. Cost is $10 per book, per show).

Do you have a request for a specific date for your show to be aired? (this is not for the prerecording). It must be a date that is on the current open slots, that are not in blue or red (unless you're a children's author, then a red slot would be fine)

document. <https://amysbookshelfreviews.com/podcast#4f31d732-c611-4018-b746-a6da4b894bc2>

Podcast Segments

Any episode can be one of the following segments of the show.

- Random Recommended book discussion (Amy selects a random book that she read and discusses it).
- Poetry Corner
- Author Interviews
- Publisher, publicist or agent interviews
- Your book discussion (paid by the author to promote their book on the show).
- Literary topics, news and trends
- Writing and publishing tips and recommendations
- Amy's Storytime for All Ages (every second Sunday of the Month)

Want your book to be on the Show? (For this option, Email your request, as this would not require a booking.

$10, your book can be on the podcast. ($10 per book, per episode.)

- Discussed by Amy
- The book's description
- read an excerpt (selected by author) or the first chapter or prologue of the book.

The Author Interview

- To be scheduled and prerecorded
- Donations greatly appreciated and accepted (see below).
- $15 A full page ad for their brand or their book in Literate-Ly Magazine.
- Option of an interview in Literate-Ly Magazine. (Questionnaire will be provided)

- All I do require, is that when you get the link to your show, (you'll get it and the date the show will air after the recorded interview), is that you share the information with your audience, on your website and/or social media.

Publisher representatives, publicists and agents Interviews

- These representatives will get a free interview on the podcast
- A paid ($25) Advertisement in Literate-Ly Magazine (for one year) and Bookly Litvertise Magazine (for 6 months),

Prerecorded Interviews

- All episodes of this podcast are prerecorded, and audio only.
- The default program is Google Meet. However, I can use Zoom, or I can give you my Google Voice Number, and record from there.
- Check your microphone on your computer to make sure it works.
- If using a cellphone, make sure you have plenty of charge on it.
- Also, I set the meetings to my time zone, Eastern. So when we agree on a time, make sure I know if you are in a different time zone, and if you mean a time that is on your time zone, not mine.

Rescheduling or Cancelations.

- If you need to reschedule, please let me know. When the recording schedule has started, I wait for 15 minutes for the author, and if the author does not contact me to reschedule, I will close the meeting and mark it as a no-show.
- Authors are allowed ONE no-show and allowed to reschedule it.

Book Reviews

- This is for guests of the show whose book has yet to be read and reviewed by Amy's Bookshelf Reviews
- The book review will get posted after the prerecording, most probably before the show's actual airing, unless it is scheduled to coincide with a release date
- The podcast reviews get posted on Amazon, their publisher website (if listed), Amy's Bookshelf Reviews website, and shared on X.com and Facebook #ABSRpodcast

Additional Options:

- Purchase the original uploaded recording for $25 (actual audio file)

Payments

- Payments for the advertisements will be invoiced via PayPal with a $5 invoicing fee. If that does not work for you, let me know, and I do have other methods of receiving payment.
