

Introduction to Diversity: Understanding Diverse Students

Course Description: Critical mass is the theory behind creating social, political, and cultural changes by reaching a certain number of individuals. The concept is based in what the collective can do together. Intersectionality is the examination of individuals who fall into "multiple identities" - being a person of color and LGBTQ, being a woman with a disability, or being a person of color who is also in a religious minority. Intersectionality can have incredible impacts on students, their families, and our schools.

This online course will take a deep look at the concepts of privilege, intersectionality, research on students who have multiple identities, and work on ideas to make your school and community a more open environment.

Clock Hours / Continuing Education Units: 5

Learning Objectives:

- Understand social justice and feminist terminologies
- Gain knowledge about the matrix of domination, privilege, and how oppression plays out in communities
- Consider how to more effectively work with students who face barriers due to Intersectionality
- Create safer learning environments and communities for students who experience Intersectionality
- Demonstrate a knowledge of biases in one’s self and surrounding institution
