SKINCARE

our DNA

our STORY our FOUNDER

DRIVEN TO IMPROVE SKIN HEALTH – A LIFELONG PASSION, AND A NECESSITY

Midway through her career as a beauty executive, master and celebrity esthetician, and educator, Karen Ballou found herself up against an unthinkable battle: cancer. Diagnosed with Hodgkin's lymphoma she underwent chemotherapy. Treatment took a toll on her skin, and on her journey back to health, she became increasingly passionate about skin immunity.

That's when Immunocologie was born. Built on the belief that the stronger skin is, the better it functions – vibrant, youthful, clear, and radiant.

Every product in the line is created with ethically harvested and sustainable plants, which provide vitamins and minerals found in our clays. Each formulation is infused with Earth-energized ingredients.

our SCIENCE

VITAL OLIGO COMPLEX PATENTED DELIVERY SYSTEM

Vital Oligo Science is the study of minerals that are vital to our bodies and how they are effectively absorbed by skin. Our patented delivery system works with an ionic exchange through which clay's ions and minerals interact with an environment, optimizing how our formulas are absorbed and utilized by the skin. The mineral content supports the skin barrier too, helping it maintain a healthy microbiome that defends against inflammatory stressors. The science of healthy skin meets the power of French green clay.

It's also the science of intuitive formulations. We use biomimicry to replenish depleted minerals in a way that gets them exactly where they need to go, to do the most good for skin.

CONSCIENTIOUS

our COMMITMENT TO PEOPLE and the PLANET

We engage in sustainable partnerships with communities around the world in which we work. In Burkina Faso, Africa, for example, where many of our ingredients are sourced, we've cultivated relationships with local farmers and producers that help develop their communities.

We make sure that each action has a regenerative impact like replanting the fruits and plants we harvest, which respects natural ecosystems and integrates the economic, social, and political dimensions of human life.

CONSCIOUSLY SOURCED

SUSTAINABLY SOURCED,
BECAUSE WE ARE ALL
IN THIS TOGETHER

When ingredients are not sourced responsibly, it puts undue strain on the Earth, which can deplete supplies and harm ecosystems. Our commitment to protect an increasingly fragile Earth means that we follow sustainable sourcing methods globally.

Many of our ingredients are sourced in accordance with the Fair-Trade Act and the Nagoya Protocol, an international framework that sets some of the highest standards for sustainable and socially equitable business practices.
