

Pete Wing
Liberty University
Aviation Maintenance Training School

Missions has played a major part in Pete's life. Childhood was full of missionary stories, many directly from missionaries who stayed in his childhood home as guests. He attended Piedmont Bible College/Missionary Aviation Institute, earning him his A&P license, commercial and instrument pilot's licenses, and CFI. This training equipped him for his first assignment as a single missionary pilot in Timbuktu, Mali, West Africa in 1988. Several years later God allowed him to bring in the year 2000 with his family in the same town.

Pete and his family served with Evangelical Baptist Missions from 1990 until 2003, when he returned to the US and once again taught at Missionary Aviation Institute (MAI). His desire to use his experience to help train others led him to Liberty University after the closure of the program at MAI.

Pete and Sharon have been married since May 1990, and have three children: Clarissa (20), Christiana (17), and Andrew (16). Over the last several years the family has had the opportunity to travel to a number of countries, fostering missions emphasis in the local church. They currently reside in Forest, VA.
