

BYRON BROCK

UIM AVIATION

In November of 1999 my family moved to Arizona to work with United Indian Mission's aviation ministry serving the church in Mexico. The purpose of UIM Aviation is to help develop the church by providing air support to missionaries and organizations reaching into the remote mountainous areas of Mexico. Since the summer of 2000, I have been serving as the Director of UIMA. I received my Associates degree in Aviation Maintenance from Kansas State University and a Bachelor of Science in Missionary Aviation from Grace University in Omaha, NE. I have an airframe and power plant license with an Inspector Authorization. I am also a multi-engine instrument rated commercial pilot and a CFI (Certified Flight Instructor).