

Nathan Federwitz

JAARS

Nathan grew up in Papua New Guinea (PNG), the son of JAARS pilot Jonathan Federwitz. He went there when he was 14 months old and didn't return to the United States until after he graduated from college.

While in PNG, he got his love for missions and for flying. In May of 2019, he graduated from Concordia University Wisconsin with a major in Missions and a minor in Director of Christian in Ministries.

Starting in August of 2019, Nathan will start his training for an A&P license and the following year, he will start flight training with the hope to be a missionary pilot in the near future.