City Council

Council Reorganized After Election

By Grace Kufahl

The Council bid farewell to departing Mayor Casey Jones and thanked him for his service to the city. Thomas Simpson took his place as the new mayor. Incumbent Alderpersons Jill Baxter, Benjamin Gritzmaker and Paul Naramore were each re-elected for another two-year term. With Simpson moving from alderperson to mayor, there is an open position on the Council. The Council voted to post the position and have candidates apply to be appointed to fill the remaining one year of Simpson's term. The application deadline is Tuesday, May 7th. Jill Baxter was reelected Council President.

Ben Andrews from MSA, attending virtually, led the required public hearing for the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) street project. No members of the public commented on the project. The CDBG application deadline is Thursday, May 16th. The Council approved Resolution 2024-005 to commit CDBG match funds. The city could earn another 10 points in favor of their application by adopting a Capital Improvement Plan. However, part of that plan was agreeing to approximately $2 million dollars in remaining project expenses after grant funds. The resolution for that was not adopted and a special meeting was set for

Monday, May 13th to discuss it with

Brodhead Historical Society to present The Evolution of South Side Grocery to Sentry

Brodhead was once the home of many grocery stores, much different from today's lone Piggly Wiggly. One of the larger and longer-term historical grocery stores was Peterson's South Side Grocery. The Brodhead Historical Society is pleased to host Sandy Peterson at their next meeting, to be held Monday, April 29. Sandy is the son of Dean and Mary Peterson, founders of that grocery store, and will speak on The Evolution of South Side Grocery to Sentry.

Sandy is a Brodhead High School graduate, and received his bachelor's degree at UW-Whitewater. He went on to earn a master's degree in Speech Communication and a doctoral degree in Organizational Communication at Indiana University-Bloomington. His career has been in academics, consulting and management, from Indianapolis to Utica, New York and finally, to Kansas City, Missouri. After retirement in 2014, he continued pursuing his interests in American and British history, consulting on parliamentary procedure, and the collection of coins and currency. Sandy recently donated a collection of materials related to the grocery store and the Peterson family. These artifacts will be used in a new grocery store exhibit in the museum, and may be seen when the museum opens in May.

The meeting, including a short business session, begins at 7 p.m., and will be held in the Knight Addition of the Depot Museum. The public is welcome to attend. Former employees of South Side Grocery are especially welcome.

Brodhead Community Gardens meeting Wednesday, April 24

Interested in growing your own food? Do you have limited or no space for a garden where you live? Would you like to have fresh beans in July, to-matoes in August and butternut squash for dinner in October? Then you are a candidate to join the Brodhead Community Gardens. There is an acre of land available behind Gasser True Value for community residents to have their own garden plot to grow what they wish. The spaces are approximately 20x25 or roughly 500 square feet. You may reserve up to two sections per family and you may keep your same plot year after year. Participants are asked to use limited amounts of fertilizer, use organic herbicides and insecticides, and clean up their space by November 1. All vegetables are the property of the grower and gardens will be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., daylight hours, during the summer months for planting, weeding and harvesting. If you have never had a garden before experienced gardeners will be available to help you get started. There will be water available on site.

They will hold an in-person meeting on Wednesday, April 24, at 7 p.m. at the Congregational United Church of Christ, across from the gardens. You can also sign up on Saturday morning, April 27, at 9 a.m. at the Community Garden site. Both meetings are open to existing Community Garden members and those wishing to get a garden plot for the first time. Because of an expected increase in expenses this year they are charging $20/plot. They will be making plans for the coming year and receiving payment and assigning plots.

Compost will be available by late-April if you want to apply it before the gardens are tilled. Tilling is based on temperature and ground conditions but is usually done by the first week in May. Please do not plant anything until the tilling is done. For more information you may call Tiff Bates at 608-684-0012. Please do not call Gasser Hardware. Happy gardening!

Community Garden members who had plots from last year may sign up by sending a check to Dennis Singstock, 2725 S. State Road 213, Orfordville, WI 53576. Please make your check payable to the Brodhead Community Gardens. Please reserve your plots by Wednesday, May 1. If you are planning not to garden this year and release your garden to someone else, please send a note to Dennis or call Tiff at 608-684-0012.

BMS SEEKS MULTICULTURAL MORNING SPEAKERS

Brodhead Middle School is looking for speakers to participate in its annual Multicultural Morning event on Wednesday, May 8. The students will be divided into small groups and travel with a "passport" to listen and learn about different cultures, cuisines, tourist attractions, physical landscapes, holidays, and more. Presentations will occur from 8:15 a.m. until 11:45 a.m., and guests are welcome to speak for more than one session.

Participating in this event has many benefits, such as inspiring young students, sharing your passion for travel, and making meaningful connections with community members. Timothy Bauer and his paddling partner host the online paddling resource: MilesPaddled.com... https://milespaddled.com/. The website has many more trips than the guidebook does and has much useful information on Midwest paddling adventures.

Donations sought for Curtain Fund

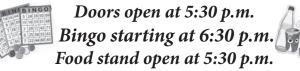

By Sharon Pryce

The Albany School District is continuing to make improvements to the school. I am reaching out to the community and Albany Alumni to help raise the funds for a new stage curtain, which the original curtain was purchased by John Litel in 1938. The project would also include curtains to wrap around the side and back of the stage, and lighting on the stage. The school has made great strides in the athletic and weight training programs with the help from outside donations. We need to make conservative efforts for the students who are involved in the fine arts. The estimated cost for the improvements is $33,000. Any donations can be mailed to the Albany School District, P.O. 349, Albany, WI 53502 (curtain fund).

What's WEB?

WEB is an orientation program to welcome in the sixth graders so they get off to a great start at Brodhead Middle School. WEB Leaders play a crucial role in that because they can share what they've learned throughout their middle school experience. WEB Leaders will be trained in how to work with incoming sixth graders. Each WEB Leader will work with a partner to lead a small group of sixth graders. WEB Leaders will guide, mentor, and lead their sixth graders through the year.

Wednesday, April 17th, was the first official WEB Leader training day. They have a group of 22 students who applied and were selected to be WEB Leaders. These students have shown a dedication to being kind, helping others, being respectful, and leading with a positive attitude. They also aren't afraid to step out of their comfort zone and have FUN! They will create a welcoming space for the sixth graders to feel like they belong at BMS.

These Brodhead Middle School sixth graders were chosen by their peers and science teacher for choosing a unique item to measure the depth of the earth's layers by. Brielle (far right) measured by the size of a bacteria—her answers taught her to use scientific notation! Jordan (far left) measured by the length of the Great Wall of China. His answers showed him why decimals are important. Other objects measured by, in size order, were Air Jordans, a cat, a cow, an aircraft carrier, and the Empire State Building. Great job students!

Baseball Pushed into Double Header

By Teresa Earleywine

Men's baseball game for Tuesday and Thursday were moved to Wednesday as a double header at Big Foot. Kohen Sawle covered the pitching duties through all seven innings in game one. He had six strikeouts, four hits and no runs. Offensively the Cardinals collected five hits, Evan Senobe, Dave Masloske, Clayton Elliott, Brooks Malkow and Sawle, with Gabe Bockhop, Senobe, Sawle and Malkow scoring to give Brodhead the 4–0 victory.

In game two of the double header, the Chiefs scored two-runs in the opening inning. Brodhead's pitching team faced challenges from the rubber allowing 10 walks on the night. They combined for 12 strikeouts and limited Big Foot to six hits. Cardinal defense was stellar in the field with no errors. The Chiefs were also tested from the mound as they allowed 11 walks and struck out four. Senobe helped lead the Cards scoring three runs and had two hits including a double. Elliott also was 2-for-3 in the game while Masloske was credited for two runs batted in. The final score 5-3 gave the Cards the win to sweep the Chiefs.

On a blustery Friday night, at Delavan Darien, Brodhead's southpaw Senobe, pitched four innings compiling seven strikeouts that included a total of 90 pitches with 51 being strikes. The wind may have been a factor in the five walks, and surrendered five runs on three hits in the bottom of the third. Elliott came on as relief for the final two innings and earned five strikeouts, tossing 44 pitches with 23 strikes total. The Cardinal bats were strained with Bockhop and Ryan Searls collecting they only two hits in the game. Searls and Elliott would score in the seventh but it was not enough to overtake the Comets who finished 5-2 to hold off Brodhead.

The team faced Edgerton on Tuesday and will host the Tide here on Thursday and will also have East Troy at home on Friday.

Softball

With the challenges of Mother Nature last week, women's softball was a complete washout. Brodhead will have a busy week playing at Edgerton on Monday, face Evansville at home on Tuesday, travel to play Beloit Turner on Thursday and have East Troy at home on Friday.

Relays was another area the Cardinal women shined with three-second place finishes. 4x100m consisted of Jones, Elliana Shank, Bernice Bevars and Arn, the 4x400m included Riemer, Olivia Hartwig, Danica Demrow, and Brielle Engen with Hartwig, Madi Brown, Serena Santiago and Demrow teaming for the 4x800m.

For the Cardinal men, senior Nathan Engen leaped 20'.1 which gave him first place in long jump. Brodhead's 4x400m relay team of Blake Adkins, Eric Woodward, Engen, and Jorge Villalva 3:43.7 was the other first place finish. Second place finishes in relays included 4x200m Grayson Arn, Woodworth, Teagan Pinnow and Gavin Boegli while the 4x800m team included Engen, Blake Adkins, Marcus McIntyre, and Jorge Villalva. Gavin Pinnow placed second in high jump and third in 800m run. Engen finished second in the 400m and Gunner Boegli was third in the 100m sprint.

Saturday Mornings at the Duramd Library Two Part Series on Vegetable Gardening

Submitted by Barbara Flores, President, Friends of the Durand Library

Everyone is invited to the Durand Library for a two part series on vegetable gardening at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 27 and Saturday, May 4. Registration is not required but a heads up to the email below would be appreciated as this helps with preparing handouts.

Barbara Flores, a Master Gardener through the University of Illinois Extension, will lead the talk. She and her husband, Frank, began a vegetable garden at the five day a week Rock River Valley Pantry on Rockton Avenue in Rockford in 2012. This 3,000 sq ft garden is now entering its 13th year.

On Saturday, April 27 basic gardening decisions will be discussed beginning with why do we want to plant a vegetable garden: for fresh vegetables for table use, to preserve produce, to share with a child or just for fun? But where will you put the garden? The most important factor is the amount of sun, then access to water, type of soil, raised bed or not also figure in that decision..

Deciding what to grow—and when to plant it—starts with determining your hardiness zone. The U.S. Agriculture Department maintains a map that breaks the nation into growing zones based on temperatures and average first and last frost dates.

There is a proper time to start each type of vegetable. There are the cold hardy and frost tolerant plants which, includes the cole family as well as turnips and beets. The great majority of vegetables are annuals but there are two perennial vegetables to consider for the garden, rhubarb and asparagus. Succession planting of beans, beets and other vegetables can increase production from the same space.

Saturday, May 4 we'll discuss warm weather plants and talk in detail about planting tomato, pepper, eggplant, cucumber and more as well as when and how to harvest. It is important also to avoid planting things too close together as this can promote bacterial and fungal growth. Healthy plants need space to grow, And, of course, there will be hazards to expect e.g. insects, disease, wildlife.

Please plan on coming to one or both of these sessions and bring your questions! Gardening is a lifetime hobby that brings joy and satisfaction.

Representative Clinton Anderson Announces Run for Re-Election to 45th Assembly District

State Representative Clinton Anderson (D-Beloit) announces he will be seeking re-election to the 45th Assembly District. The 45th Assembly District consists of the cities of Beloit and Evansville, the Village of Orfordville, and the Towns of Avon, Beloit, Magnolia, Newark, Spring Valley, Turtle and Union.

"It has been a great honor to serve in the Wisconsin Assembly. With new legislative maps for 2024, I am eager to go into the next session and get more done. Voters want elected officials who can stick to their values and work across the aisle. I have done that and will continue to do so."

"There was so much to celebrate from this last session. My bills to protect our elections from AI and to help Evansville get a $700 million dollar soybean processing plant were signed into law. We also passed a historic increase in shared revenue to our local governments. However, we still have more work to do. We need to address the issues facing Wisconsinites on a daily basis. Whether it's affordable childcare, public education funding, or healthcare, I hope the voters will send me back to Madison to do that work," said Representative Anderson.

The Primary Election is Tuesday, August 13th and the General Election is Tuesday, November 5th. For more information, go to clintonforassembly.com.

Next Steps Family Resilience Center set to break ground

Family Services of Southern Wisconsin is pleased to announce the groundbreaking event for the Next Steps Family Resilience Center, which will open its doors in Beloit, Wisconsin, in the spring of 2025. The project will be located in Beloit at the former Royce Elementary School at 825 Liberty Avenue. It will have 18 fully furnished apartments and serve families throughout Rock County.

The Next Steps Family Resilience Center is born out of a desire to address the most pressing community needs, as evidenced by statistics in Rock County highlighting challenges such as income limitations, difficulty accessing childcare services, and inadequate housing assistance.

Designed as an innovative new approach to addressing individual and family needs, Next Steps will provide comprehensive services aimed at breaking the cycle of generational poverty while promoting community unity. They will offer critical services, including case management, mental health therapy, children's services, and financial counseling. Additionally, a childcare program, in partnership with Community Action Inc., will accommodate up to approximately 70 children. The center will also have a community room for events, educational classes, and a playground.

In addition to the groundbreaking, they are excited to announce that they have officially launched the public/private phase of their capital campaign to support this vital initiative with a fund-raising goal of $3.6 million.

They invite the media, community members, and neighbors to join them in celebrating this milestone as they take the first step towards building a stronger, more resilient Rock County.

Event details: Tuesday, May 14, starting at 4 p.m., 825 Liberty Avenue, Beloit (the Former Royce Elementary School).

For more information about the Next Steps Family Resilience Center and how to support this initiative, please visit www.familyservices1`. org or contact Kelsey Hood-Christenson, President and CEO, at khood@familyservices1.org or 608-365-1244.

South Central Wisconsin Farmers Union This Earth Day, Look to Healthy Soil for Healthy Water

By Patty Peltekos

It's April, the time of year when many of us like singing in the rain, scanning the sky and checking weather forecasts for rain. Farm and garden plants, like livestock animals and people, need fresh water to thrive, which is one reason why so many members of the South Central Wisconsin Farmers Union (SCWFU) are passionate about conserving and protecting water.

Conserving and protecting our groundwater and surface waters—the sources of our drinking water—is especially important given our fluctuating climate.

There is a strong connection between farming—and gardening—practices and healthy water. Healthy soils make healthy water. And healthy water makes healthy soils.

How

Healthy soils, especially soils anchored by deeply rooted perennials—like native plants, shrubs, and trees—and soils covered with mulches stay on the ground where we want soil to stay. Ddeeply rooted plants allow rainwater to percolate into and penetrate the ground, allowing. The water to reach plant roots. This prevents runoff. Water that runs off the soil during a rainstorm doesn't help the plants that depend on it, and runoff is no good for our ground waters or surface waters.

Have you ever seen dust blowing off fields on a dry, windy day? That dust is the topsoil blowing away, most likely bound for a stream or river, like the Sugar River. Losing topsoil on a windy day or through runoff might not seem like a big deal. But it is.

America, including Wisconsin, is losing topsoil at a much faster rate than it can be replenished. Which is a problem not just for plants and animals, farmers and eaters, but also for our natural water supplies.

All too often, topsoil that is blown or runs off carries chemical hitchhikers, especially fertilizers and pesticides. When chemical-laden topsoil ends up in a stream, river or lake, the chemicals it carries end up in the water, too.

That's why farming practices make a huge impact on Wisconsin's waters. How can farming practices make a difference to water quality?

Wisconsin has long been known for the diversity of its farms. But today many dairy cows, beef cattle, goats, chickens and turkeys, and hogs spend their lives confined to huge buildings. In counties throughout Wisconsin, grazing and foraging animals who evolved to live outdoors where they can eat a varied diet and can aerate and lightly fertilize the soil, are now living in giant buildings. These facilities, known as concentrated animal feeding operations or CAFOs, pump huge amounts of water from the ground. CAFOs need all this water mostly to hose down manure from the giant structures where the livestock live. This liquid manure is stored in giant pits before it's applied to farmland as fertilizer. Applying liquid manure as a fertilizer can easily oversaturate the ground, leading to polluted groundwaters, including the wells of rural landowners. This nutrient-rich runoff is also contributing to a "dead zone" in Green Bay.

This is just one of the reasons why many SCWFU members raise a variety of crops and animals. These farmers frequently rotate their livestock from pasture to pasture, allowing the soil to be aerated and fertilized by their animals. These livestock animals are rebuilding the soil! Plus, many SCW-FU members are planting deep-rooted perennial food gardens and prairie strips or larger prairie plantings, and they are avoiding the use of synthetic fertilizers and other ag chemicals. Crop rotations, livestock rotations, and ground covers protect and conserve soil AND protect and conserve water. In addition to helping keep water in the ground, ground covers and perennial plantings prevent water from running off. Perennial plantings have the added benefit of attracting birds, bees, and butterflies—pollinators as important for our crops as for the beauty and diversity they add to our fields and yards. Preventing runoff makes for healthy plants, healthy soil, and healthy ground and surface waters.

Buying direct from local farmers is one way you can support local soil and water conservation. Check out some of the farms listed on the Wisconsin Local Food Directory, which you can link to from Scwfu.com. Better yet, join the Wisconsin Farmers Union to meet the family farmers who live near you! This spring and summer, when you're at farmers' markets and farmstands, ask your farmers about the conservation practices they are using on their land.

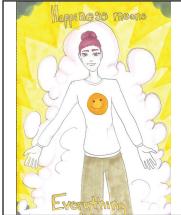

Patty Peltekos loves watching the sky and the weather it brings from her home in southwestern Dane County. She never thought she'd be so wowed by the Natural Resources Conservation Service's rainfall simulator and how it demonstrates the relationship between farming practices and water.

South Central Wisconsin Farmers Union is a member-driven chapter committed to enhancing the quality of life for family farmers, rural communities, and all people through educational opportunities, cooperative endeavors, and civic engagement in Rock, Green, and Lafayette Counties.

With Youth About Alcohol

Research shows that having frequent, casual conversations about the dangers of alcohol can make a big difference in your kid's choices. However, once your small talks get started, you may get hit with some tough questions, like, "If alcohol is so bad, why do you drink wine?" But don't sweat it. Better Brodhead is partnering with the Wisconsin Department of Health Services to help. We've put together more tips, more tools and more answers to tough questions, such as, "Did you drink when you were a kid?" and "What if my friends ask me to drink?" and "Why do I need to wait until I'm 21?" These new resources are part of Small Talks, a campaign from Wisconsin Department of Health Services, which encourages adults to have short, casual conversations with kids frequently, starting at age 8 on the dangers of drinking alcohol before the age of 21. To access the resources go to the Small Talks website at SmallTalksWI.org. Then, share your small talks moments on social media using #SmallTalksWI.

Cyclo-cross Bike Race

By Evelyn Crooks, Brodhead Historical Society

Bicycle racing enthusiasts and spectators gathered at the Ernest Exum farm October 10, 1976, on rural Brodhead's Decatur Road. Madison's Two Tyred Wheelmen bicycle club joined efforts with Ernest Exum, local Steve Stair and Tyger Johnson for the event. Contestants came from Brodhead, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, and Dakota to compete in the first race of the season. The course totaled 11 miles of varied terrain through a cornfield, wooded area, up a bluff, across a cow pasture to a steep sandy hill. Rain and mud added to the challenge. Contestants rode, walked or carried their bikes throughout the course. An extra bike, repair and spare parts for breakdowns were waiting if needed.

Contestants were competing toward a mid-west victory to eventually compete in the National Championship in Eugene, Oregon. One of the contestants, Tyger Johnson, has been a world champion. Brodhead's Steve Stair kept close pace with Tyger and came in a second place winner.

The worldwide sport is held October through February in varying weather conditions, adding to the endurance challenge. The sport cyclo-cross racing began in France in 1902. The first explicit cyclo-cross bikes appeared in the 1960s, manufactured by European counties the Netherlands, Belgium and Italy. Also known as CX or CXB bikes, they roughly resemble road-racing bikes. Cyclo-cross bicycles have been modified to perform in the varied course conditions and terrain-type of metal/carbon fiber frame, tires, rims, brakes/levers, handlebars, and pedals. A UCI (Union Cyclist Internationale) sanctioned event has specific rules for the bikes: handlebar width, tire width with no studs or spikes, at least a 12 spoke wheel, bicycle weight at least 15 pounds to two significant features.

According to sources, the race was held for two or three years in Brod-

We read books this week about rainbows and even made a rainbow wand to chase away the 'grumpys.'

Then we got out the paint and mixed colors to make rainbows. Be careful, though! Too much mixing makes the colors turn to MUD! Thanks, Jenny McNeely for the pic-

And THEN we made rain! We drew on our paper with white crayons and painted with blue watercolors to make the rain show up.
